Two hundred years of history took time, energy, planning and the construction of programs, policies, and ideals. A fitting celebration for America's Bicentennial also required extensive planning, organization, and construction to prepare Washington D.C. for millions of tourists. Just as any major event required a series of steps to insure its success, events at Hayfield were no exception.

Dances, plays, games and other major events didn't just happen.

Students tried out for the drama productions and after the cast was chosen long hours of rehearsal followed. The director coordinated the play and adapted parts to better suit Hayfield. Technical aspects of the play were set up and revised until they were perfect.

Preparation insured success

During the year fences appeared around the various points of interest to hide the preparations for the bicentennial. Preparations at Hayfield didn't require wooden fences but often the planning and construction took place behind closed doors to insure the element of surprise. Behind the closed doors of the auditorium the drama productions took shape; crews constructed sets, the musicians practiced, and the actors memorized and rehearsed their parts.

Within the locker room the teams discussed the game strategy and prepared themselves mentally for the upcoming competition. Within the confines of the art department various persons secretly constructed the two Hawk mascots presented during the Homecoming pep assembly. Different groups and organizations built their own fences and when they were finished it benefitted Hayfield.

Teams chose their players and practiced continually, perfecting their plays and skills until the final game. Football practice began in August and long, strenuous practices constructed a team with the ability to beat the best.

Halftime shows presented by the marching band, majorettes and drill team required repetition of each formation time and again until they reached perfection. Practice began in the summer and a week of camp provided the necessary training. A special bicentennial pre-game show highlighted the Homecoming Game events, and the American flag was constructed before the eyes of the spectators.

In everyday school activities students prepared themselves for life. They began constructing the foundation on which a promising future would depend. The faculty and administration worked hard to provide the basic necessity of a successful future, and education. Whether students' interests focused on music, business, math or other areas the fundamentals were available at Hayfield.

Throughout the year students constructed an active school life with classes and extracurricular activities. Somewhere in the school something was always going on. Plays, games, dances, and other activities offered a wide variety of opportunities and without student involvement the activities never would have happened.

Class of '75 celebrates

1975 came to a close with the senior class celebrating prom and graduation.

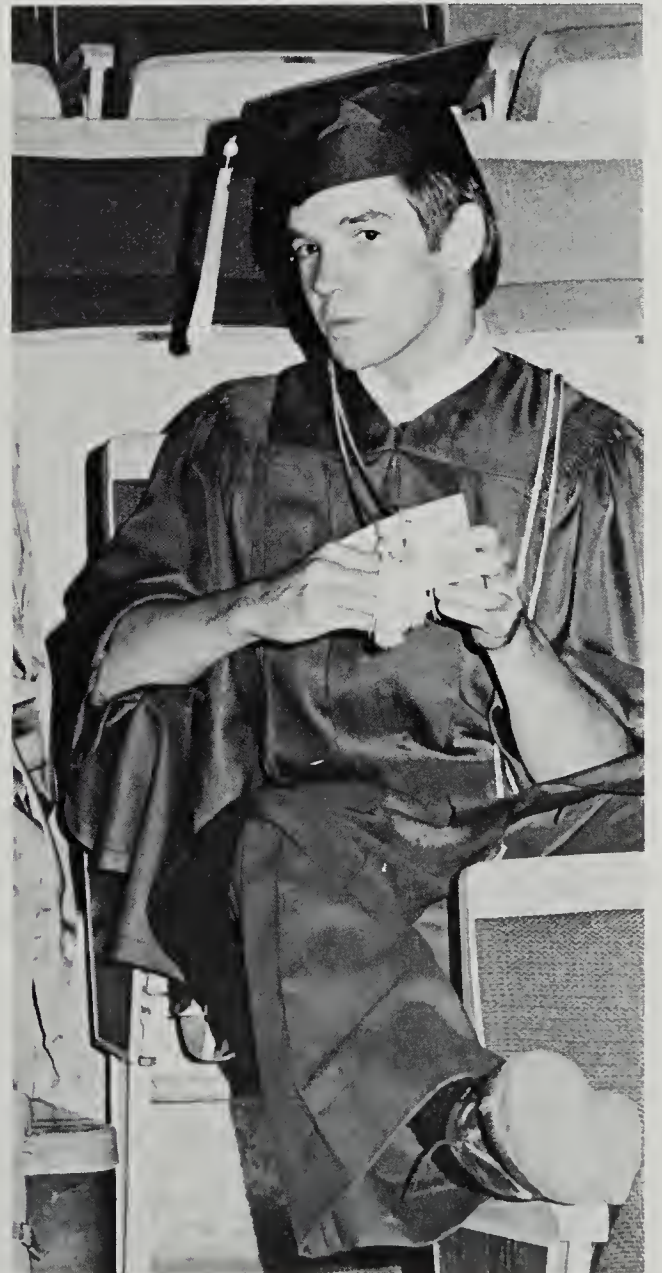

The prom took place on May 31, at the Quality Inn. Liberty provided the music. The queen, Sheliah Jenkins, was crowned to John Denver's "Poems, Prayers and Promises," which was chosen by the Junior Class to be the overall theme.

Several days later the Class of '75 graduated from Hayfield's Field House in the traditional graduation ceremony. Leah Christensen earned the honor of speaking to the senior class. No major delays lengthened the ceremony and the Class of '75 struck out to celebrate in their own ways.

GODSPELL

This year's fall production of Godspell drew the biggest audience ever to Hayfield's auditorium. The cast of forty-eight and the director, Richard Westlake, worked diligently for six weeks to present the show. To quote many people, the show was "fantastic!"

Josie Boggess, Homecoming Queen

Hayfield hosted Jefferson for Homecoming this year. The game began at 7:30 with a pre-game show performed by the band, drill team and majorettes. The show concluded with the unfolding of a large bicentennial flag.

Halftime began with the parade of floats. The Junior float, a replica of the Spirit of St. Louis, won first prize. The court was then introduced.

This year's homecoming court consisted of freshmen, Karen Milton and Clare Spillane; sophomores, Debi Adams and Kathy Okyen; juniors, Connie Beach, Brigitte Boland, and Lorraine Henderson. The seniors on the court were: Darien Beuke, Wanda Hall, Brenda Hazelwood, Belinda Jacobson, Sandy Knudslie, Karen Ruffner, Pat Stafford, Amy Walters and Cindy Weitz.

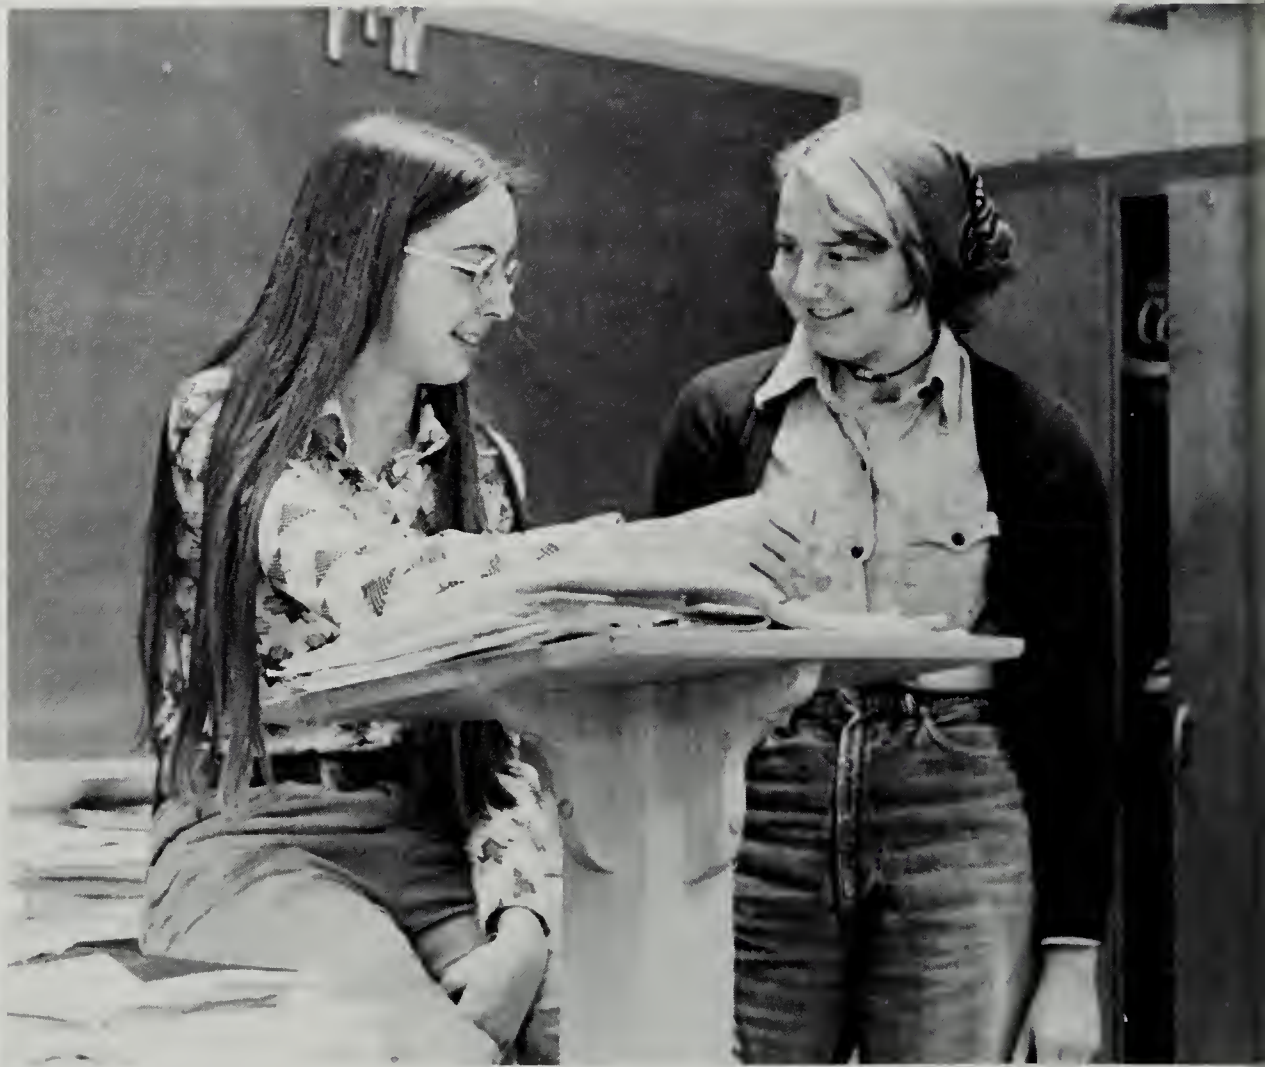

The queen, Josie Boggess, escorted by Mike Murray, was presented with the traditional roses and a necklace by Mrs. Torrice and former queen Debra Bailey at halftime.

The game proceeded and Hayfield emerged the victor, 6 to 0.

Students at Hayfield represented a small portion of an abundant source of talent. Students here displayed talent in every area. The musically oriented students, the artistically inclined, the intellectual, the dramatic, and the students who displayed tremendous ability in working with their hands, all made Hayfield a more enjoyable environment.

There were also many students whose talents were so widespread, that it would be interesting to find which fields they will eventually pursue.

Without these students, Hayfield would have been a barren place with no decoration, entertainment, or interest.

The 1st Annual Powder Puff Game

The first annual Powder Puff Football Game, sponsored by the junior class, took place on November 15. The seniors won the game 8 to 7.

As one can see from the pictures shown, the guys had just as much fun switching places as the girls did.

An adorable senior, John Bone, was chosen to be the 1975 Powder Puff Queen. He (?) was escorted by senior Chris White.

Music Dept. In Action

The Winter Concerts were performed during the week of December 15th through the 19th. Each section of the music department presented a Christmas program of its own. One night the choruses sang a variety of Christmas carols that made the season seem more like Christmas. The Orchestra, Symphonic Band, and the Stage Band played their Christmas selections on other nights during the week.

STUDENT INTERESTS

Many Hayfield students continually increase and change their talents to suit their personalities. The students' interests are not limited to any specific field. Whatever their interests may be, they always seem to find a time and a place to demonstrate them.

Christmas Dance: before ...

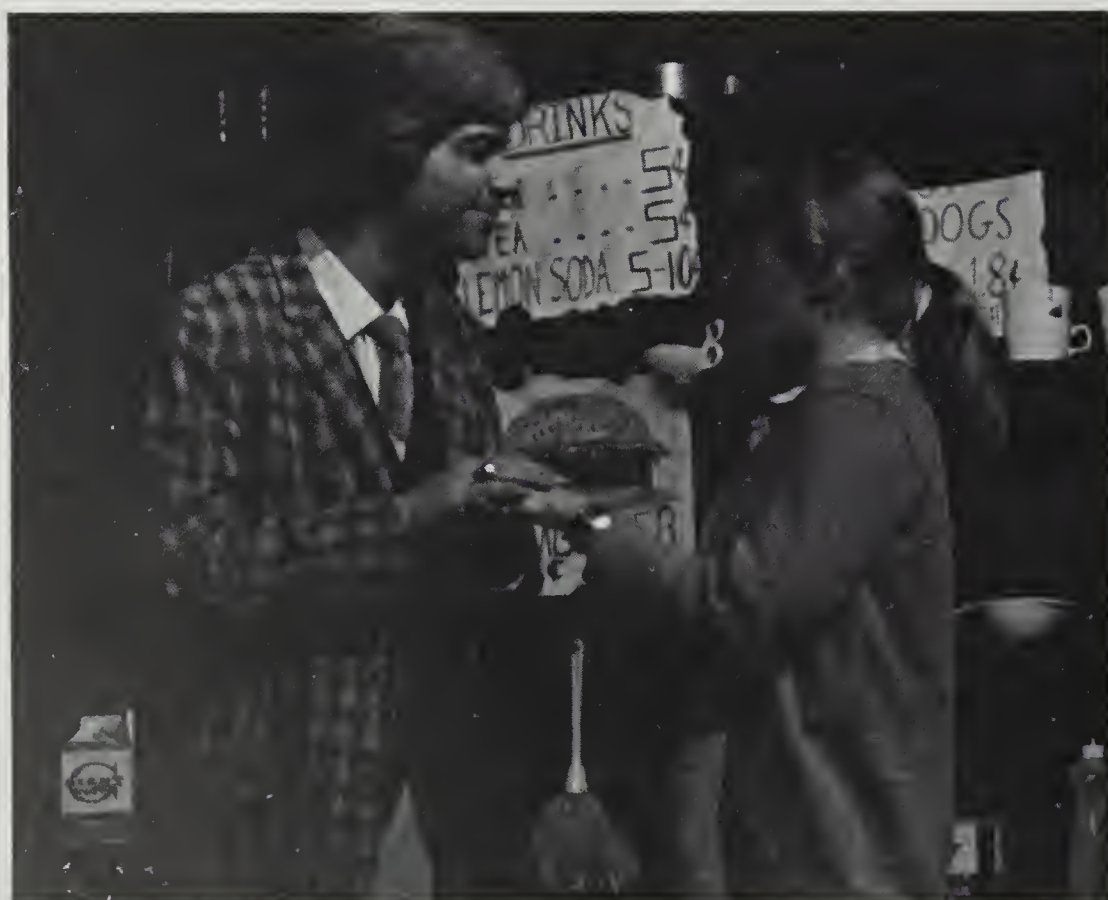

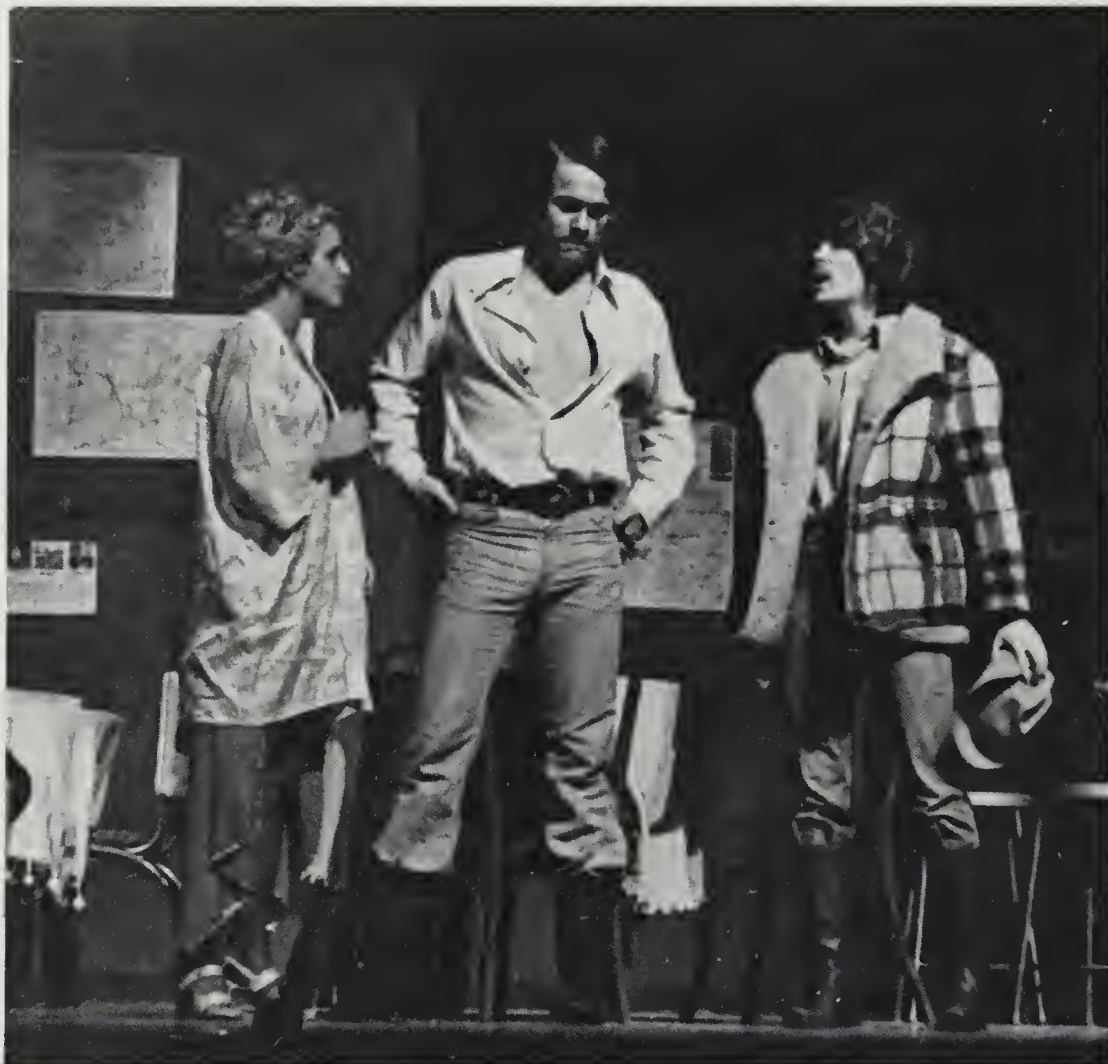

This year the S.C.A. sponsored the White Christmas Dance. The performing band was Side Show, best known for their being a back-up group for Stevie Wonder and the Righteous Brothers. Though the turnout was small, the dance was enjoyable. The decorations, door prizes, free refreshments and the surprise visit from Santa all helped to create a happy holiday feeling.

Bus Stop, a Drama III-IV production, was an excellent drama with a combination of both funny and serious scenes. The cast was outstanding in their performances.

Jennie Price played Cherie, the part Marilyn Monroe did in the movie version. Lewis Beach did an outstanding job as Bo Decker in the part Don Murray played in the movie version.

Groups at Hayfield

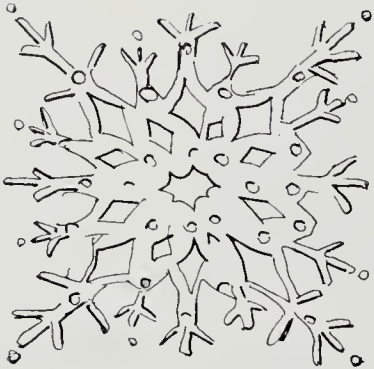

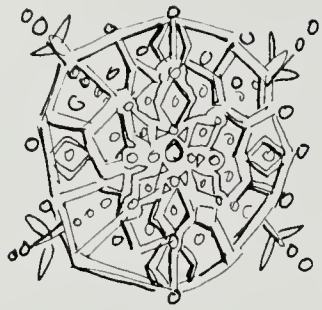

Groups at Hayfield come from a wide variety of people. There were those that rallied round the "Jock Rail," and those that boogied at Exit Three. When the weather outside was cold, one walking down the science hall was very aware of those outside in the smoking lounge. There were also those students that formed groups because of their extra-curricular activities or their academic interests.

These groups were largely responsible for stopped-up halls and private parties; however they were also largely responsible for perpetrating much of the fun around the school.

This year Hayfield had its share of bad weather. In freezing temperatures the heaters seemed to be inadequate in keeping the building warm. Students, as well as teachers, had to resort to sweaters, hats, and coats to keep themselves warm.

Brrrrr...

Assemblies:

Hayfield has hosted many assemblies this year. There have been sports assemblies to introduce the various sports teams; assemblies commemorating our history, as in "Black History Week" where the Stage Band, Chorale, and the Drum and Sandal group gave a performance; and assemblies where outside shows have been presented to the students—the Kodak "Science Meets Art" presentation and the show presented by the high school students representing the University of Hawaii. Those students did several music numbers and several Hawaiian dances.

Winter Festival

On January 23, 1976, Hayfield held their second annual Winter Festival. The Winter Festival started Friday with a pep rally introducing the court. That night at the basketball game during half-time the court was again introduced. Sandy Knudslien was pronounced the Winter Festival Queen and last years queen, Kathy Okyen, presented her with a bouquet of flowers.

Saturday night the Winter Festival dance was held in the cafeteria. TAYLOR MILLS ROAD Band presented an evening of entertainment. The dance was sponsored by the Hayfield band.

The Winter Festival court consisted of: K. Borden, J. Bradley, K. Burns, D. Chevalier, C. Cline, P. Hausburg, S. Knudslien, M. Quan, L. Radu, S. Senn, P. Stafford.

Every weekday this past year, school would begin when the students started to arrive. Those driving their own vehicles and those walking would usually arrive anytime between seven and eight o'clock. Those riding buses would arrive between 7:25 and 7:45. After the student arrived, he would proceed to his locker to deposit his belongings. He would then do whatever he wished, be it going to the cafeteria for breakfast, to the school store for some supplies or just visiting with friends.

The Intermediates were just as busy this past year, and perhaps even busier, than the high school students. The seventh and eighth grade students, at the prospect of high school, tended to work harder than their upper-class counterparts. They proved to be more industrious and to show more enthusiasm in their endeavors. These junior high students involved themselves with the same activities as the high school students. They participated in sports, the arts, and academic programs.

The intermediaries are

Fads And Fros

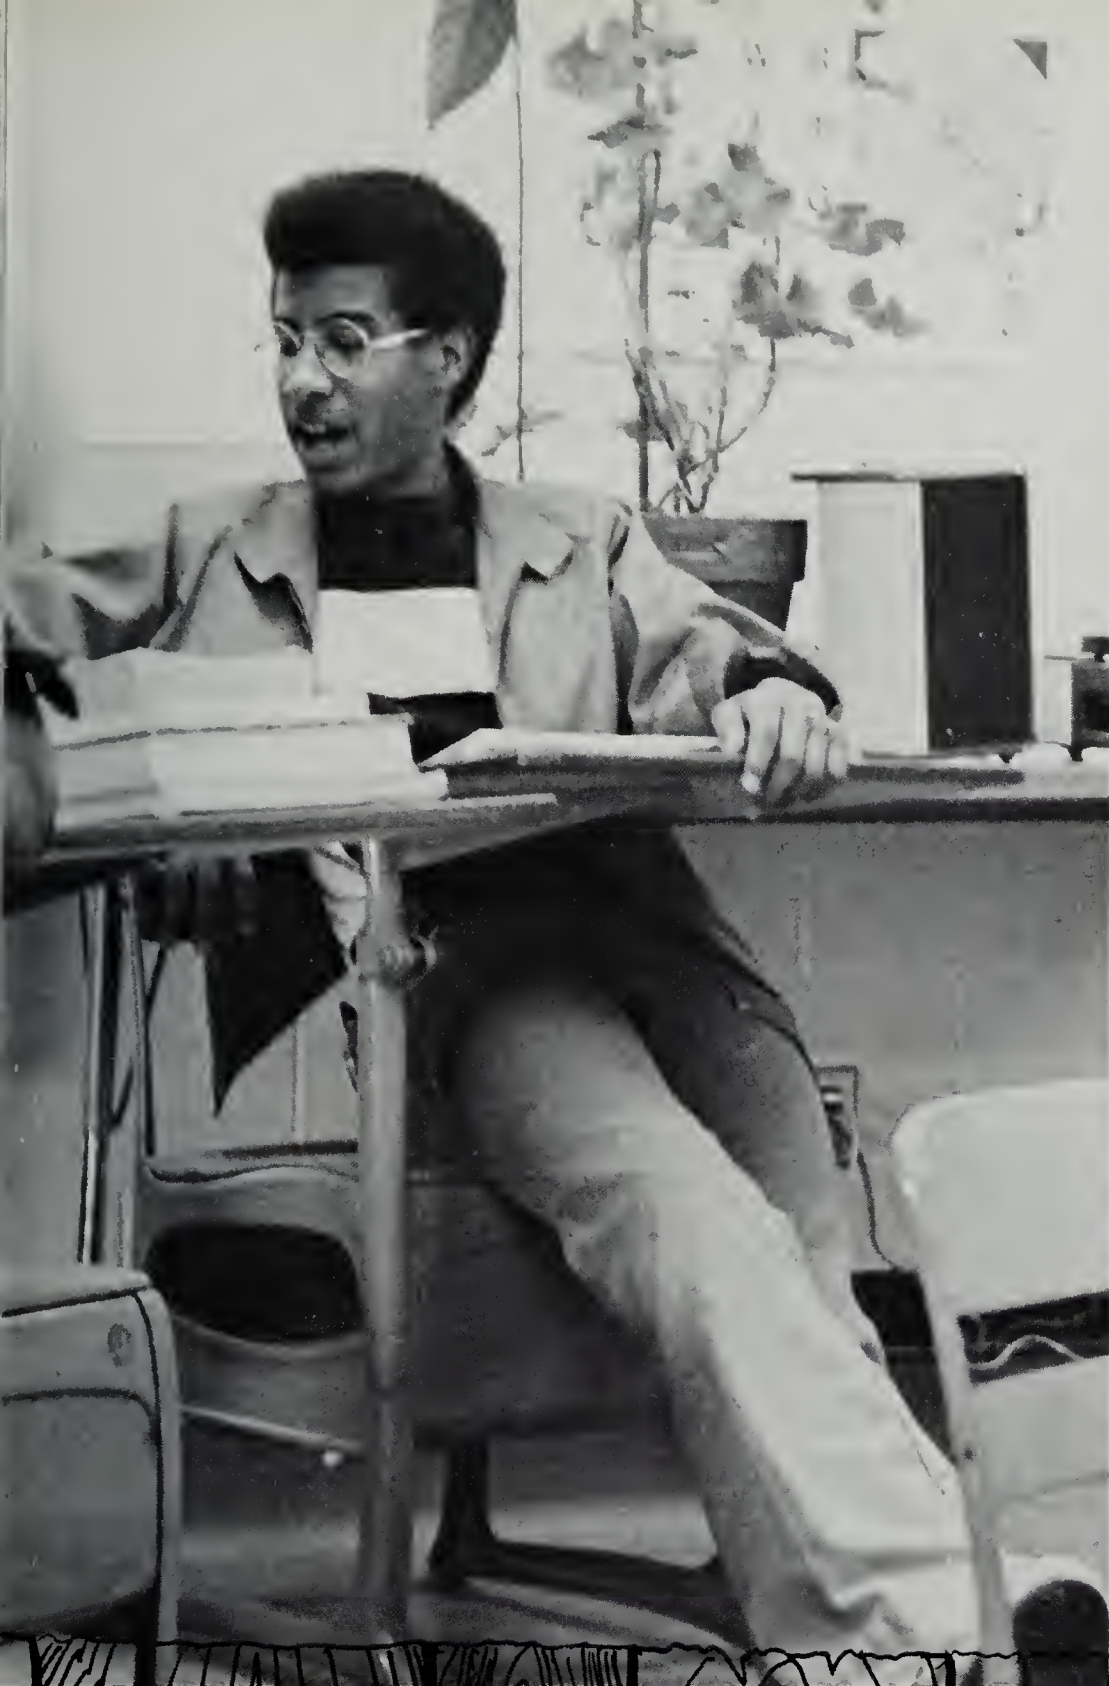

The 1975-76 school year produced many new styles. Both sexes wore snappy, coordinated clothing throughout the year. Scarfs became quite popular with the girls, and believe it or not, guys were wearing pocket watches again—chains and all!

Girls' hair continued to remain short with obvious touches from their curling wands, and the boys started using blow dryers. Shoes varied from the ever present platforms, worn by both males and females, to the new sensation—earth shoes.

Jewelry also made a strong entry into everyone's lives. Girls as well as guys frequently wore neck chains. Liquid silver, hischi beads and puka shells were among the most popular.

After twelve years, graduation comes along without much regret. The senior year ties up all the loose ends and hopefully prepares each student for what's ahead. The foundation and supports that have been built up to secure a future must be stable and strong. The senior year represented different things to each senior. Some looked forward, some held onto the past, but most went on to college, careers and other types of schooling.

The seniors decided to put the lounge under construction in the month of December. This month proved pretty hectic for a group of seniors. Soon after Thanksgiving, Senior Council decided to redecorate the lounge by painting and cleaning. Paint was donated by Mr. Visnick, and the work began. Seniors worked during free periods and after school. A new candy machine was added to the coke machines. During this month the lounge was kept closed, to the distress of many seniors. After winter vacation, once again the lounge opened, much to the delight of the Seniors.

The steps began the freshman year for the Class of '76. For the first time they were forced to plan for the future. They chose classes to prepare for goals. They studied hard and learned a lot and proved that they were ready for P.S.A.T.'s. It was then as juniors, they found out college would be a big change. As graduation rolled around for the Class of '75, the Class of '76 realized they were going to be seniors. There were new classes such as A.P. English, chemistry, trigonometry and government. The last year of high school, there were S.A.T.'s, Achievements, studies, work, friends and fun. The scholastic year of '75-'76 came to a close with memories, a future ahead and best wishes to the classes to come.

Officers, Council and Sponsor

Hayfield Seniors started the year with high hopes and ambitions. With good officers and an experienced sponsor, the ride to graduation began. Traditionally the class sponsored the Homecoming festivities and dance. The council and officers communicated ideas to the class about graduation robes, colors, tassels, and fees. Plans for a class trip or picnic were discussed at length before a class vote was taken. Baccalaureate and graduation plans also took time and energy to assure a smooth and organized ceremony.

The senior class' cutest couple, Sandy Knudsen and John Stoffelen, attend the second annual "Winter Festival Dance." Where later that night Sandy was crowned Queen. The dance, sponsored by the Band and Drill Team, took place on January 24. This was one more very special night during the Class of Seventy-Six's senior year.

Two other dances that special for the senior class were Homecoming and the Prom. Both were especially meaningful to the senior girls with all the excitement of being picked to be the queen.

Senior Life

The life of a Senior of '76 was confusing, fun and sometimes depressing all at the same time. There were classes to attend, homework to be done, activities to perform and jobs to be fulfilled. In spite of all the work and fun the prospect of the future hung over their heads. The next year would bring jobs, college, marriage and parenthood.

The games and victories didn't come automatically; you built and constructed a team who working together became an invincible force. First a selective group of skilled athletes was chosen to form a team. Long hours of practice and drills followed, building the team up in strength and skill. Finally the time came, the seasons began and one game, meet, and sports event led to another. The fences surrounding the sports events under construction were removed and the spectators enjoyed the delight of victory.

Hayfield Soccer takes 1st in Gunston District

Hayfield is gaining a reputation for being a "soccer school." Since 1973 Hayfield's soccer fortunes have improved steadily to the point of a district championship.

The Hawks won the District Soccer Championship based on skill and on the sheer desire to win. Individually, the halfbacks and fullbacks played an aggressive, tenacious defensive attack which contributed to the total team effort. The offensive line was second to none in the area.

This title was not won by brilliant strategy or conditioning. Rather, the 46 young men on the varsity and junior varsity squads are the reasons for the Hawks success. Their skills earned them the slogans, "Success through hard work," and "110%," which are now the watchwords of the soccer team. This was the only type of real pre-game preparation.

As a coaching staff, the title was important for two reasons: first, coaches were around to experience the dark birth of soccer at Hayfield, and second, whenever a sport such as soccer or softball wins a district or regional title, that sport is no longer considered a "minor" sport. Soccer has come of age at Hayfield.

As for the future, any additional or continued successes are dependent upon the attitudes and skills of the players who are coming up in the ranks.

Individual effort and skill combined to make a track team. The Hayfield Girls' Track Team of '75 displayed the enthusiasm and the will to win, and they did. The 440 relay team, Miranda Boozer, Kim Borden, Adrienne Heard, and Lori Vanzant, set a new state record of 49.4 seconds.

The team also took 7th place in the Virginia AAA State Meet, 5th place in Gunston District, 4th in Northern Regionals, 3rd in Fairfax County Co-ed Meet, and 2nd place in the Harringer Relay.

“Individual effort and skill make a track team.”

The Hawks track team, led by John Barnes, Ralph Solano, Fred Bowan, Walter Welch and Carl Franz had an extremely successful spring season. The team went undefeated in dual meets, finishing 7-0. Many school records were set. Fred set records in the long jump, high hurdles, and 100-yard dash, John in the mile run, Walter in the triple jump, and Carl in the shot put.

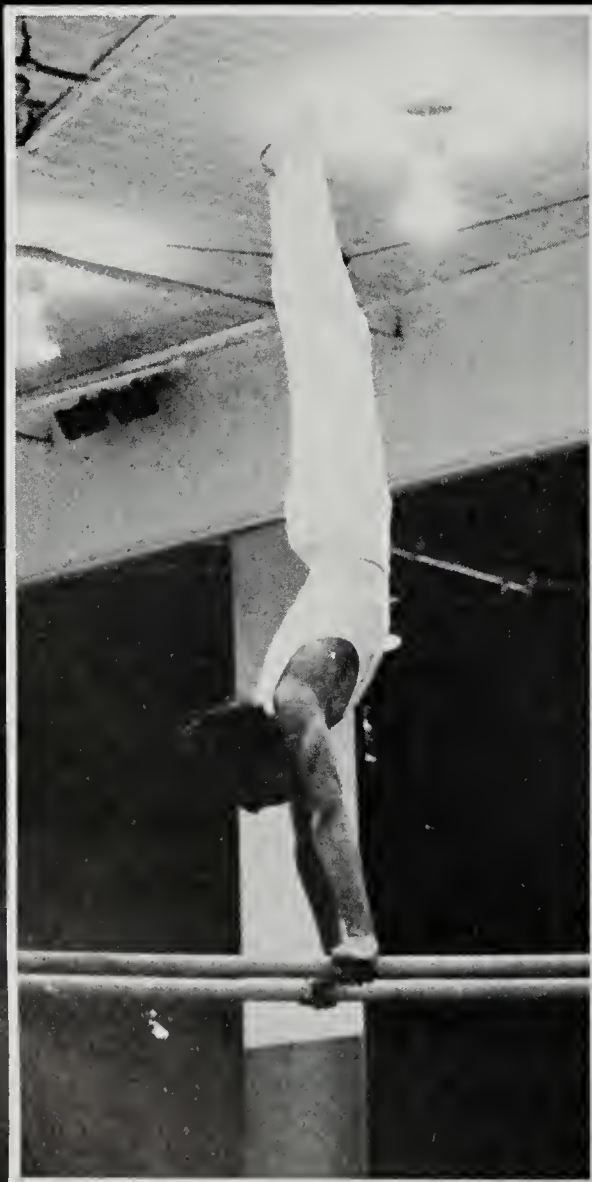

At the Gunston District Meet, Ralph won the 440-yard dash. Other members of the team that placed in the District Meet were Walter, Fred, John, Carl, and Marc Okyen. The mile relay team, consisting of Ralph, Marc, John Koca, and Kieth Hammersly, also placed.

The junior varsity also enjoyed a successful season, running their regular season winning streak to 12. They ended the season by finishing a strong second at the Junior Varsity District Championships.

This year was a beginning year—with two new coaches, and many new players, all of whom worked very hard at the skills involved in building a successful team. Their biggest accomplishment was the development of a good team spirit, the feeling of belonging to a group of people all striving for a common goal—to play a good hockey game. Next year's foundation for a winning team will be the returning players who can pass on and help develop an ever stronger team spirit next fall. "A good team consists of eleven players who care what's happening, eleven players with the basic skills and understanding of the game, and coaches who work closely with the team to solve any problems that might arise," summed up Coach McDonough.

The varsity softball team had a very exciting season in 1975. During regular season play, the team lost only two district games which gave them a tie for second place with Lee. Since the first two teams held births in the Regionals, Hayfield played Lee to determine which team would be the second representative from the Gunston District. Hayfield beat Lee by a score of 15 to 1 to earn the right to go to the Regional playoffs. Hayfield went on to beat Oakton, Jefferson, and finally Lake Braddock to become winner of the first Northern Regional Softball Championships and bring Hayfield its first Regional Championship ever.

Girls Tennis

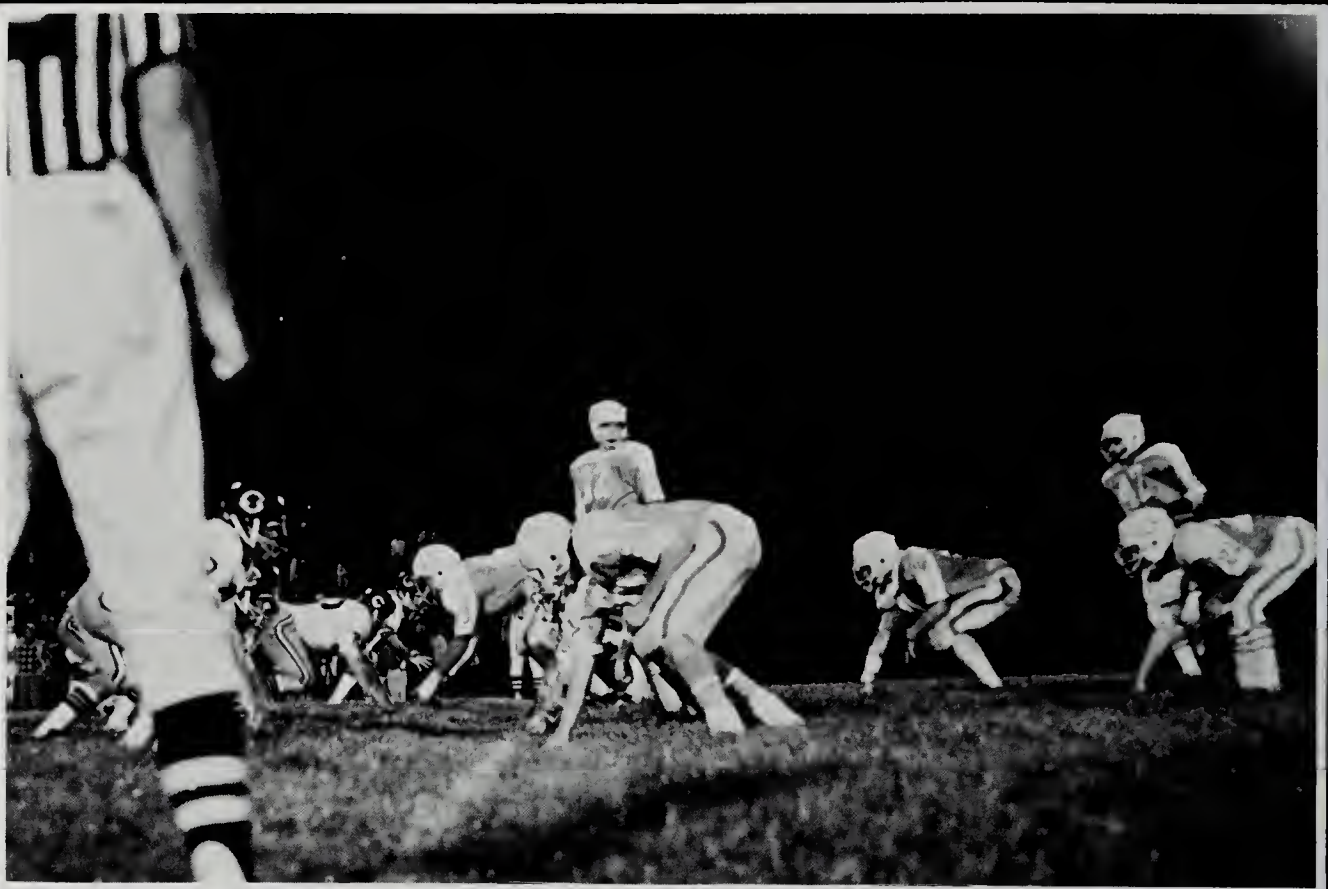

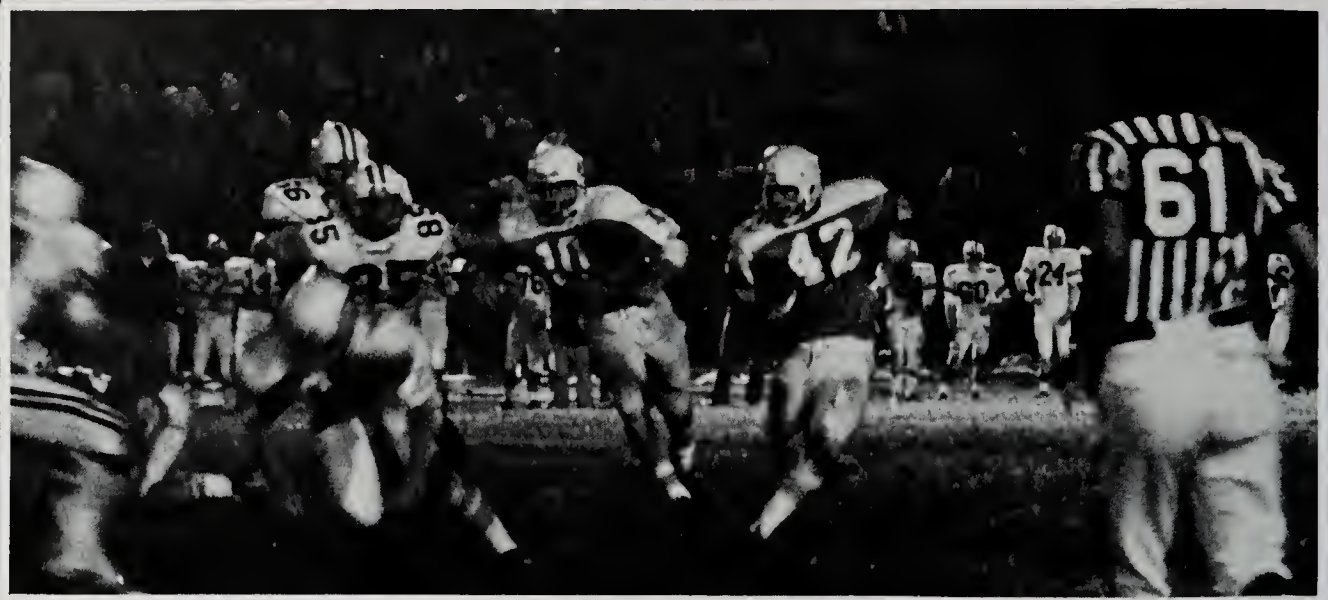

Pam Kleanthous is ready for the return.

This year Hayfield's Girl's Tennis Team was the largest in Hayfield's history. 1975 could be considered the team's rebuilding year, with many new players on the team. The tennis team's Gunston District competitors were very aggressive. The girls ended the season with a record of 1-9. Unfortunately, many of them were close losses. New also, this year, is the rule which allows girls to compete in both singles and doubles matches on the same day. Hayfield's Girl's Tennis Team should be a strong team in the upcoming year.

It takes a lot of hard work and dedication to be good at anything, and football is no exception. The 1975-76 Hayfield football team gave up many afternoons and weekends to running banks, punching sleds, and going over plays. This hard work paid off in a great overall improvement in the many skills required to play football. Each year, one player stands out as being most improved in these skills. This year Alan Miner was chosen as that player. There is also a player which the football team feels has contributed his skills to the game more than anybody else, and Tom "Icky" Hughes did so this year. Playing the game well is important, but losing it is just as important. One must be able to take it and go on. The team felt that Richard Ward was able to smile through the wins and the losses, and thus chose him for best sportsmanship.

The Hayfield Swim and Dive Team was coached by Ruth McNamara and her assistant, Heather Young. The captain was Carol Bradley and her co-captain, Rick Poe. The team members worked hard through the year to try to qualify for the state tournament on March 6th at the University of Virginia.

Some first place winners on the team were Carol Bradley, Carolyn Henne, Moira Hally, Rick Poe, David Konneker, and Jane Bradley. The girls' 400 free relay team made up of Carol Bradley, Moira Haley, Sue Racherbaumer, Roxanne Racherbaumer came in 4th at the relay carnival

Girls Basketball

Excels

Both the varsity and j.v. girls' basketball team this year worked really hard to defeat their opponents. They practiced diligently every day after school in preparation for their games.

The varsity team was greatly improved from last year's team. They started their season by beating Stuart and Fairfax. As of January they had lost only one game to Lee.

The j.v. team also got off to a good start by defeating Lee and Fairfax. Both teams had the potential to finish with excellent records.

Varsity Basketball '76

Dedication, hard work, and a good attitude make a great team. The men on the '75-'76 Varsity Basketball Team worked for hours at a time through Thanksgiving, Christmas, and many weekends to create a team from men who had never previously played together. Although the team was young and relatively short, each player's determination to do his best gave the team a winning attitude. A tough schedule in a senior oriented Gunston District tempered Hayfield's basketball team into a hard hitting ball club. Despite a bad start, (3-11-0), more people than ever showed up at the games. This turnout, "the best pep rally in the last three years," and a great coach, rallied each player to get involved, to go more than half way, to be the best player possible.

J.V. Basketball: making

next year's Varsity great.

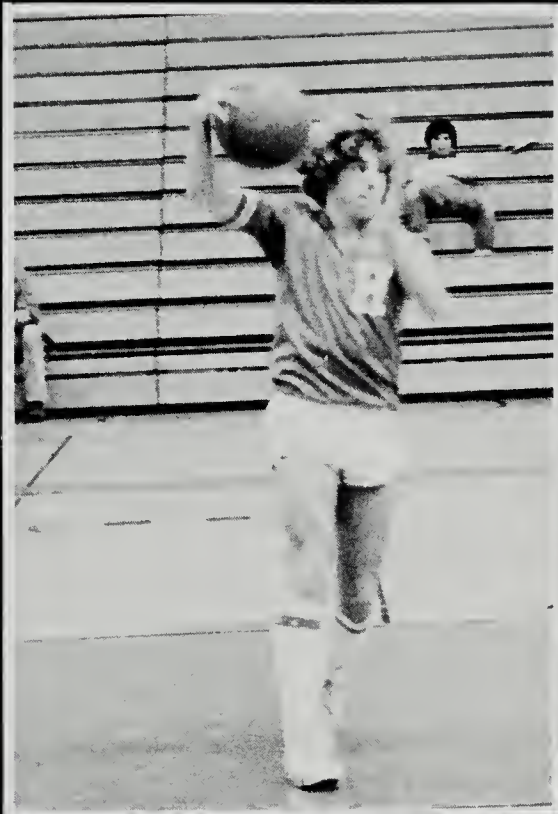

The purpose of any J.V. team is to train the players for varsity competition. To the players, however, there was more to being on the Junior Varsity Team than just training for varsity. It meant going out and doing their best to win the game. The J.V. Basketball Team was young and determined. The team was organized so Coach Mayse could get everyone involved and teach them the skills they would need in varsity competition. It was hard work for both coach and players alike, but the team spirit was high.

Varsity Wrestling Takes 1976 Gunston District Championship

This year's 1975-76 varsity wrestling team had a fairly slow start, but finished with a strong record of 8-3-1. The team then went on to take the 1976 Gunston District Championship. The wrestlers each fought hard and brought Hayfield four district champions: 98 lbs., Criag Lelansky; 112 lbs., Ed Carlson; 145 lbs., Joe Maron; and 185 lbs., Tilghman Payne. Hayfield also had three second place district wrestlers, and two third place district wrestlers.

Rifle Team Breaks School Record

The Hayfield Rifle Team trains students in the safe and skillful use of target rifles. To be precise is very important in competing against other teams.

This year's 1975-76 Rifle Team had a very successful year. The team broke the school record five times. Members of the team include Rocky Salvatore, Bryan Overton, Charley Davisson, George Simcox, Bobby Simcox, and one girl, Suzanna Shelton.

Fair Baseball Season

Baseball is a sport which demands players to be alert at all times. Precise throwing abilities and knowledge of all possible moves are essential to gain victories. Players must practice basic skills as well as individual moves until each is perfected.

Last year's 1974-75 varsity baseball team was headed by Coach Rinaca. Hayfield had a fairly good season, winning 10 games and losing 10 games. On March 31, 1975, the season seemed to be starting out slowly, with the Hawks winning only one of their first seven games. Determination strengthened them, however, as they went on to win six straight games.

Hayfield sent three players to district tournaments last year. Don Doering, one of the team's strongest players, was on first team All-District along with two other strong players, Keith Stucki and Don Howell, who were on second team All-District.

Golf and Tennis Show Determination

FIRST ROW: Sponsor, Mr. Bedont, J. Keenan, C. Thomas, D. Williams, A. Garrett. SECOND ROW: D. Martin, G. Lambert, K. Trail, B. Marlow, B. Tibbs.

The tennis team had a disappointing season but there were some bright spots. Three players—Clark Thomas, Dennis Williams and Eric Haas—displayed excellent tennis skills. Clark Thomas was elected most valuable player with a 5-9 record. All three will be returning next year.

The J. V. also failed to win any of the nine matches they played but an encouraging sign is the fact that more people came out for boys' tennis than ever before.

Golf is a sport which demands consistency. Daily practice is essential to make basic skills a natural part of each golfer's game.

In the highly competitive Gunston District, Brian Cain (Hayfield's most valuable player) led the team in concentration and dedication. His hard work paid off when he finished the season as one of the top five golfers in the northern region.

Winter Track

This year's winter track team was young and for the most part inexperienced. Despite this inexperience, the team did well and finished the dual meet season with a 4-2 record. Keith Cole and Tim Doyle provided the young distance team with the experience and ability to make them a competitive team. The sprints were dominated by Jim Laychak, a junior, and senior Don Ellington. Together with Wally Borden and Jeff Baker, Ellington and Laychak made up the district champion 880 yd relay team.

The mile relay was also strong, consisting of Laychak, Borden, Bill Breedon, and Dan Coast. In the field events shoputter Mike Borden set a school record and Terry Dubois headed up the high jumps. The Hawks finished a respectable third in Gunston District with the relay teams and Laychak in the 600 yd dash winning events. Six Hayfield competitors went on to the state meet: Keith Cole, Jim Laychak, Don Ellington, Jeff Baker, and Mike Borden.

Long Hours and Hard Work Pay Off

A few members of the 1976 Harvester Staff attended a week long convention last summer and brought back with them the newest techniques in yearbook designing. The staff has combined these techniques and the talents available to us to create the bicentennial edition of the Hayfield Harvester.

Weekends and time after school were spent putting together its pages. Pictures were taken, people identified, copy written and layouts drawn. The days before deadlines were hectic. We'd run out of lettering or copysheets, grease pencils would be scarce and croppers were lacking. Late buses were canceled, pictures didn't turn out and people couldn't be identified. Despite these problems and a great deal of others, the book has been printed, and we hope everyone enjoys it.

A wide variety of excellent articles characterized the often controversial newspaper staff. Such articles included "Flopsy," a dog that regularly attended school and was expelled, and "The Drunken Boy Scouts," an article about a boy's fraternity, a non-school sponsored activity whose members were accused of being consistently drunk. Naturally this article brought out the most controversy.

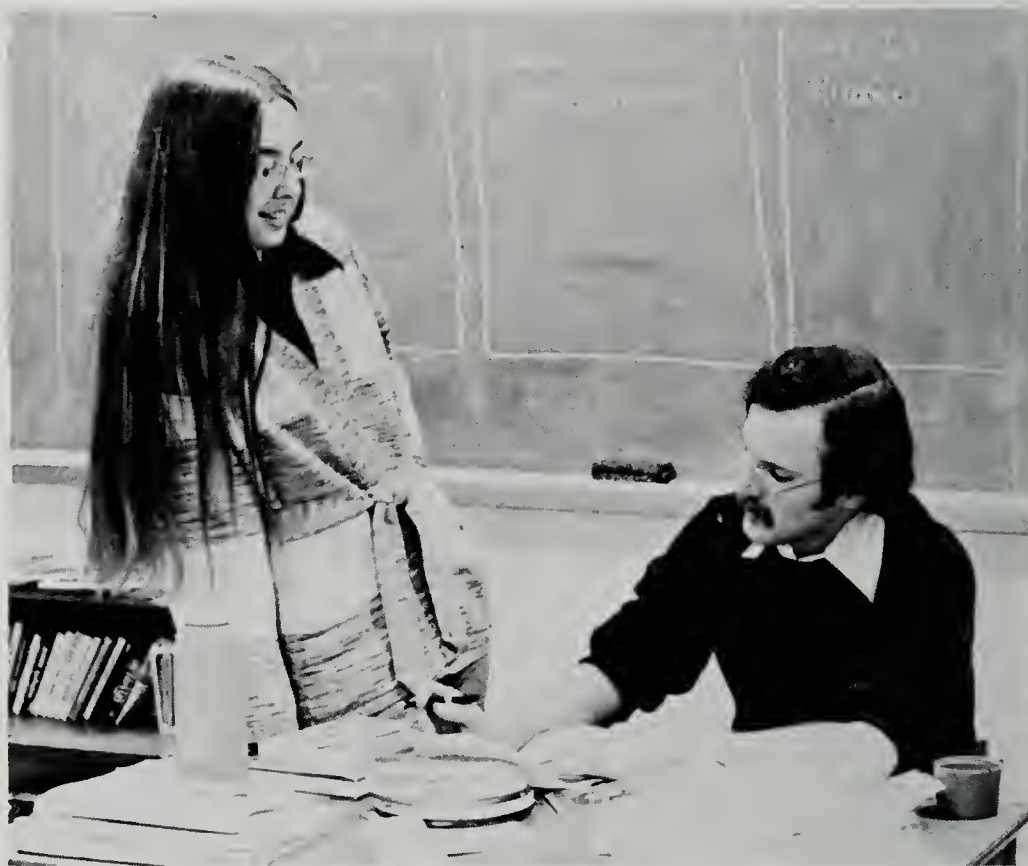

NEWSPAPER : A Source of Controversy

With over 12 hundred copies printed, their main objective was publishing a "REAL" newspaper. They wanted both the good and the bad printed, an unbiased view.

The three editors, Terese Windt, Lisa Como, and Charrie Hazard, should receive special credit for doing a fantastic job, and for taking the ridicule they received for printing what they believed was the truth.

Their motto was "Plus ca change, plus c'est la meme chose"—The more things change, the more they remain the same.

Literary Magazine

The literary magazine, otherwise known as the Chimera, was run by Mr. Harris, co-editors Liz Scheffee and Randy Clayton, and five other students who helped out on the staff. The staff reviewed each piece of literature that was submitted. They edited and voted on which items to put in the magazine. No piece was put in without first securing the author's permission. After deciding which pieces to use, the staff arranged the different stories and poems and sent them to the printers. The magazine only came out twice this year in larger editions.

A wide variety of activities were on the agenda for the Spanish Club this year. Besides being a great deal of fun, all activities helped to promote interest and understanding of the Hispanic Culture.

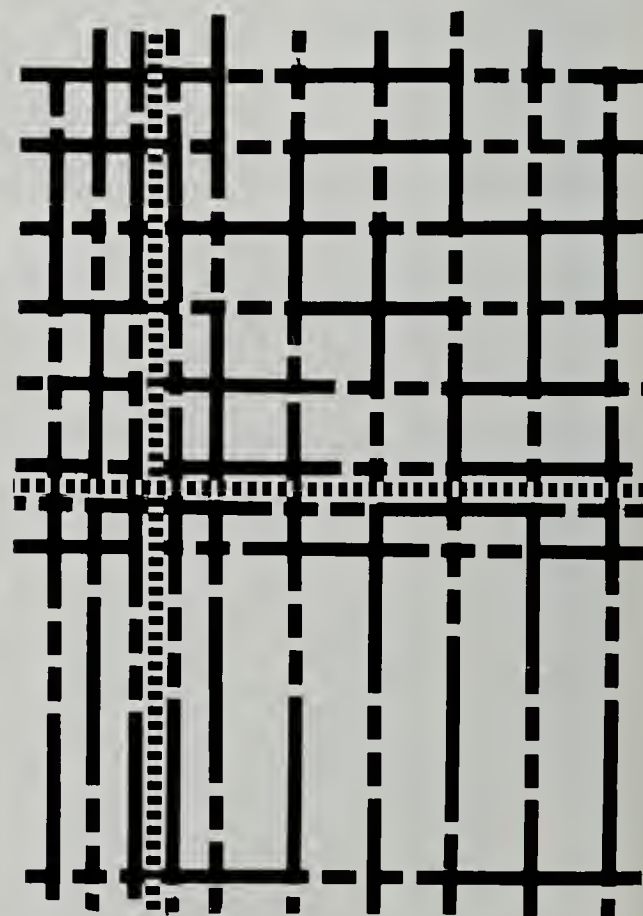

Of primary importance in the minds of many members was the trip to Spain scheduled for Easter vacation. Other activities the members planned were a Christmas party in the Spanish tradition, and a trip to a Mexican restaurant.

Members of the Junior Classical League tackled one of the most difficult languages, Latin. When studying Latin, students learned more than just the language. They pursued the humanities approach to the classical languages which exposed them to the social, political, religious, educational, and literary influences.

Culture, Caution, Checkmate

The Safety Council is a county-wide organization which promotes safety at all levels of education. This year the Hayfield chapter sponsored smaller activities throughout the year such as setting up displays and performing skits for elementary students. One of the big projects they attacked was the improvement of Old Hayfield Road.

The Hayfield Chess Club practiced diligently this year to further develop their skills in playing the game of chess, and for their own personal enjoyment. Members continuously competed among themselves for rankings on the team in order to take part in planned Inter-scholastic Competitions.

The It's Academic Club represented Hayfield at the annual WRC-TV program It's Academic. After many practice sessions and various scrimmages with other area high schools, the It's Academic Club traveled to Washington D.C. with many enthusiastic fans on November 22. Three members of the club had been chosen beforehand and were prepared for the match. Among the spectators were cheerleaders, band and drill Team members and parents of the students to cheer Hayfield on.

Bob Marlow, Jake Kovel, and Stuart Tucker had been chosen to compete for Hayfield. These three had distinguished themselves above the other members of the club and earned the privilege of sitting on the three member panel. Although they placed third in the competition, they gave it their best effort.

The Meteorology Club provided a way for interested students to learn about the weather while they performed a service for Hayfield. The club kept a showcase in the back hall on the high school side which told all pertinent weather information. They kept all weather records in the school and posted a 24 hour daily forecast. The club met on Thursday afternoons in room 111.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS of AMERICA

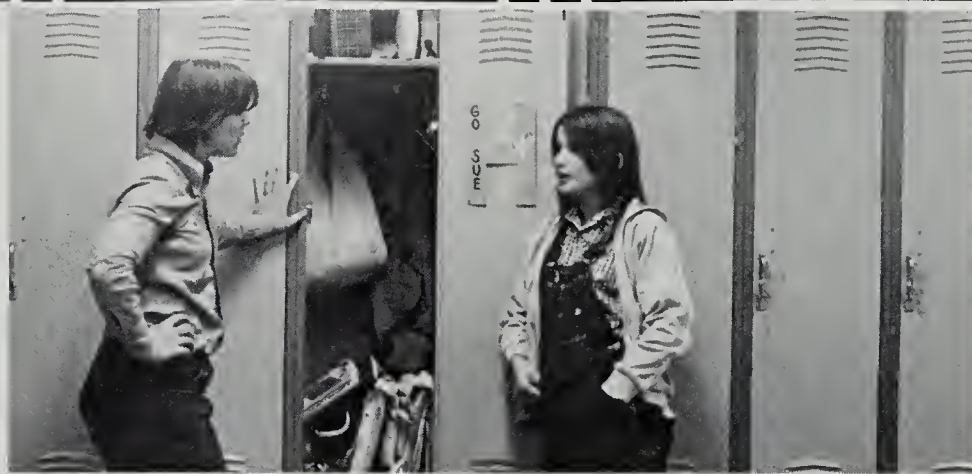

F.B.L.A. is a club that helps business students become good business men and women as well as good citizens. One of this year's objectives was to develop strong, aggressive leadership. Each business class had its own vice president and recorder, but the overall officers met monthly to plan for the whole club. In the spring, the club planned to enter contests against other schools in typing, bulletin boards, spelling, shorthand, accounting, data processing, and public speaking. Some other activities planned included: a lawyer from Georgetown who came and spoke in December, a family potluck dinner in the cafeteria, and a drive to collect and fix toys for orphans.

GAA Gets Involved

The Girls Athletic Association (G.A.A.) is an organization founded to support girls' sports. The girls involved work not only to raise money but also to raise interest and involvement in girls' sports. Their activities include working concession stands at sporting events, selling buttons, and having bake sales. Next year the organization will be changed to a co-ed group whose purpose will be to support and promote all sports at Hayfield.

Forensics - FIRST

The Forensic League, headed this year by President Jenny Hughes, is a chapter of the National Forensic League, an organization devoted to promoting speaking arts in high school students. It met once a month at Hayfield for formal meetings and each month the team competed in Northern Virginia Speech League Tournaments. It's main purpose is to provide the opportunity to develop speaking skills in a competitive atmosphere with other high schools.

The purpose of the Hayfield chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America is to promote vocational understanding, civic consciousness, social intelligence, leadership, development, and satisfaction in a job well done.

The Chapter held regularly scheduled meetings, usually during school hours, and significant annual occasions, such as the District Fall Rally, Employee Recognition Banquet, State Leadership Conference, and National DECA Career Development Conference. These and other DECA activities of civic and benevolent purpose had bona fide educational values.

Organizations prepare students for future interests

The letters H E R O stand for Home Economics Related Occupations. The members of HERO are involved in occupations related to children and all activities are based on that. The Hayfield chapter is made up of four clubs meetings 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th periods, each having its own activities as well as activities for the entire group.

Activities included various social functions and service projects such as entertaining children on holidays and taking them on field trips to the White House. In addition, members of the organization helped children work on crafts projects and other creative activities.

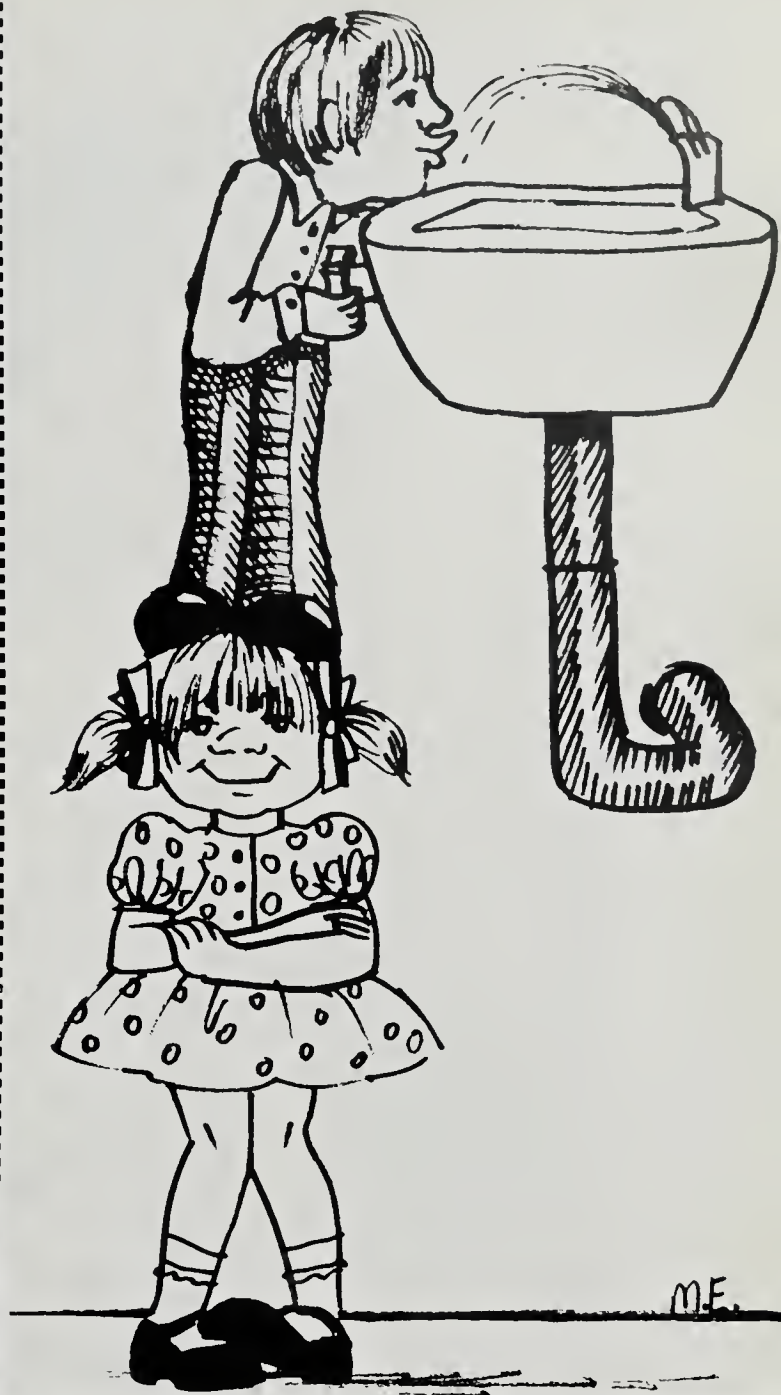

The Crusaders Club has been meeting for about five years. The purpose of this club is to give the Christians in the school a time and place to get together for fellowship. Guest speakers frequently come to talk to the group.

Some of the activities this year were Friday night roller skating, a retreat at Fredricksburg in October, and attendance at a conference given by Winky Pratney in November.

Tri-Hi-Y participated in YMCA Model United Nations in December. Hayfield's Tri-Hi-Y represented the country of Iran. Tri-Hi-Y showed their spirit for the school with a project of decorating the crosscountry team's lockers.

Behind and in front of the scenes, preparation means work

To be a member of the Thespian Society is an honor at Hayfield. Inductees must successfully complete an interview, as well as hours of work on productions, either on stage or behind the scenes. Days of initiation then follow. Being a Thespian doesn't stop once one gets inducted; he must continue to work hard for the drama department.

It was the first year for the bicycle club. During the fall, interested students got together, found a sponsor and created the club. Members planned to participate in races during the spring months.

Every month or so during the year a group of early bird hikers met up in front of the school at 6 a.m., squeezed into the available cars and headed for Shenandoah National Park. Once having arrived they climbed out of the cars, loaded up with their packs and hit the trails. The days were spent hiking and climbing around, eating, and when possible swimming, or snowballing each other. When the end of the trail was finally reached everyone piled in and headed for home, with a stop for ice-cream on the way.

Host and Hostess

The Math Team was composed of students who were interested in taxing their mathematical abilities. Once a month they met in Mr. Terelle's room to receive a math equation and solve it in the given time. Scores were tallied up and sent in to the county Math-coordinator who informed each school of their ranking at the end of the school year.

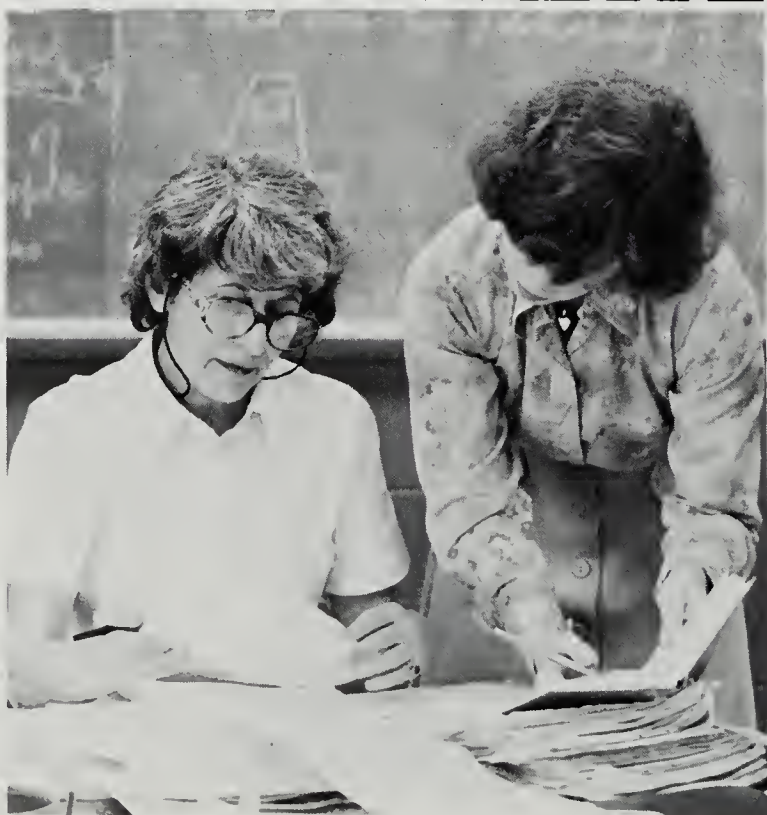

Host and Hostess is a select service organization. Members helped new students find their classes and escorted parents around the school on back-to-school night. They also assisted in pep assemblies and the graduation ceremony.

Hayfield's Honor Society inducted over seventy people this year. As part of the induction ceremony, speeches were given by Dr. Oliverio and the Honor Society officers on Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character—the four qualities that are required of members.

In order to remain in the Society, members must perform some service for the school or community and keep their grade point average up. Some activities members were involved in were tutoring programs for students and helping with the Virginia Hills Easter Egg Hunt.

This year, high school students across the country debated the issue "Should there be international control of scarce world resources?" The Hayfield Debate Team was involved in three tournaments. Debaters researched the topic and then prepared to discuss the pro's and con's of the issue hoping they would wind up in the regional, state or national finals. Win or lose, debaters, always appreciated their past experience in public speaking.

VARSITY...

JUNIOR

The junior varsity cheerleading squad operated on a new idea this year. The girls were divided into two squads so that more attention could be given to those minor sports that had been neglected in the past. Being divided among themselves was a disadvantage for the girls but they worked hard to overcome it with their enthusiastic support and spirit. With all their smiles and energy the years to come can only get better.

The Sound of Music

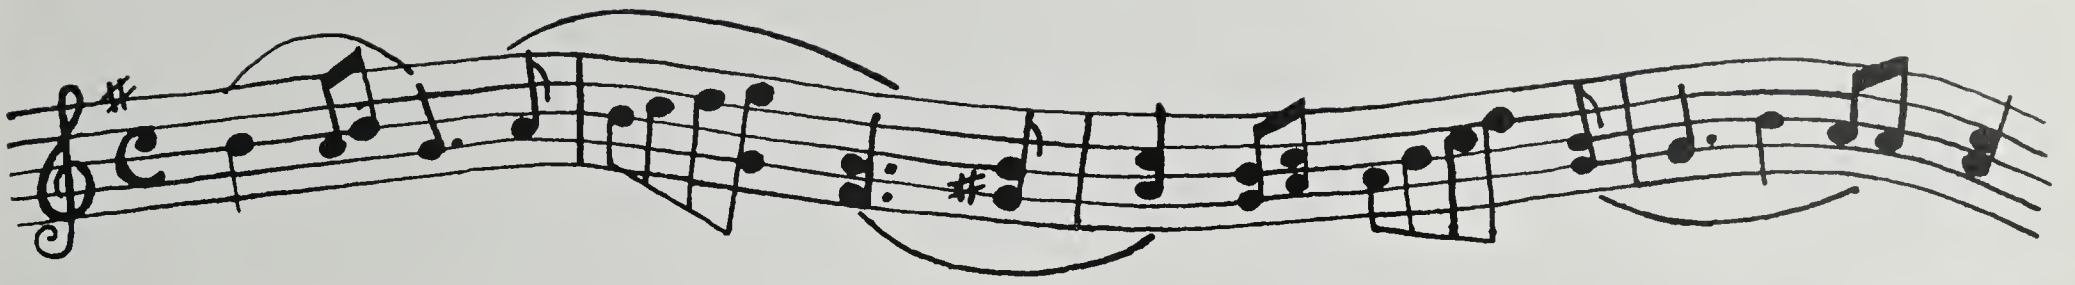

Hayfield's talented Chorale consisted of those students demonstrating superior vocal ability. The select group actively participated in many activities outside the school such as performing at the parks around the D.C. area and at the White House and Woodlawn Plantation.

Pride in their performance was the achieved goal of Hayfield's orchestra this year. The String Orchestra and Full Orchestra offered the musicians in Hayfield a chance to perform in an organized musical group. Besides the pleasure obtained from playing in the group, knowledge of musical literature, composers, and theory of music were the by-products of their efforts.

During the remaining months they performed as the Hayfield Symphonic Band. The band won numerous awards in competition between other schools in Fairfax County.

STUDENT COUNCIL ASSOCIATION

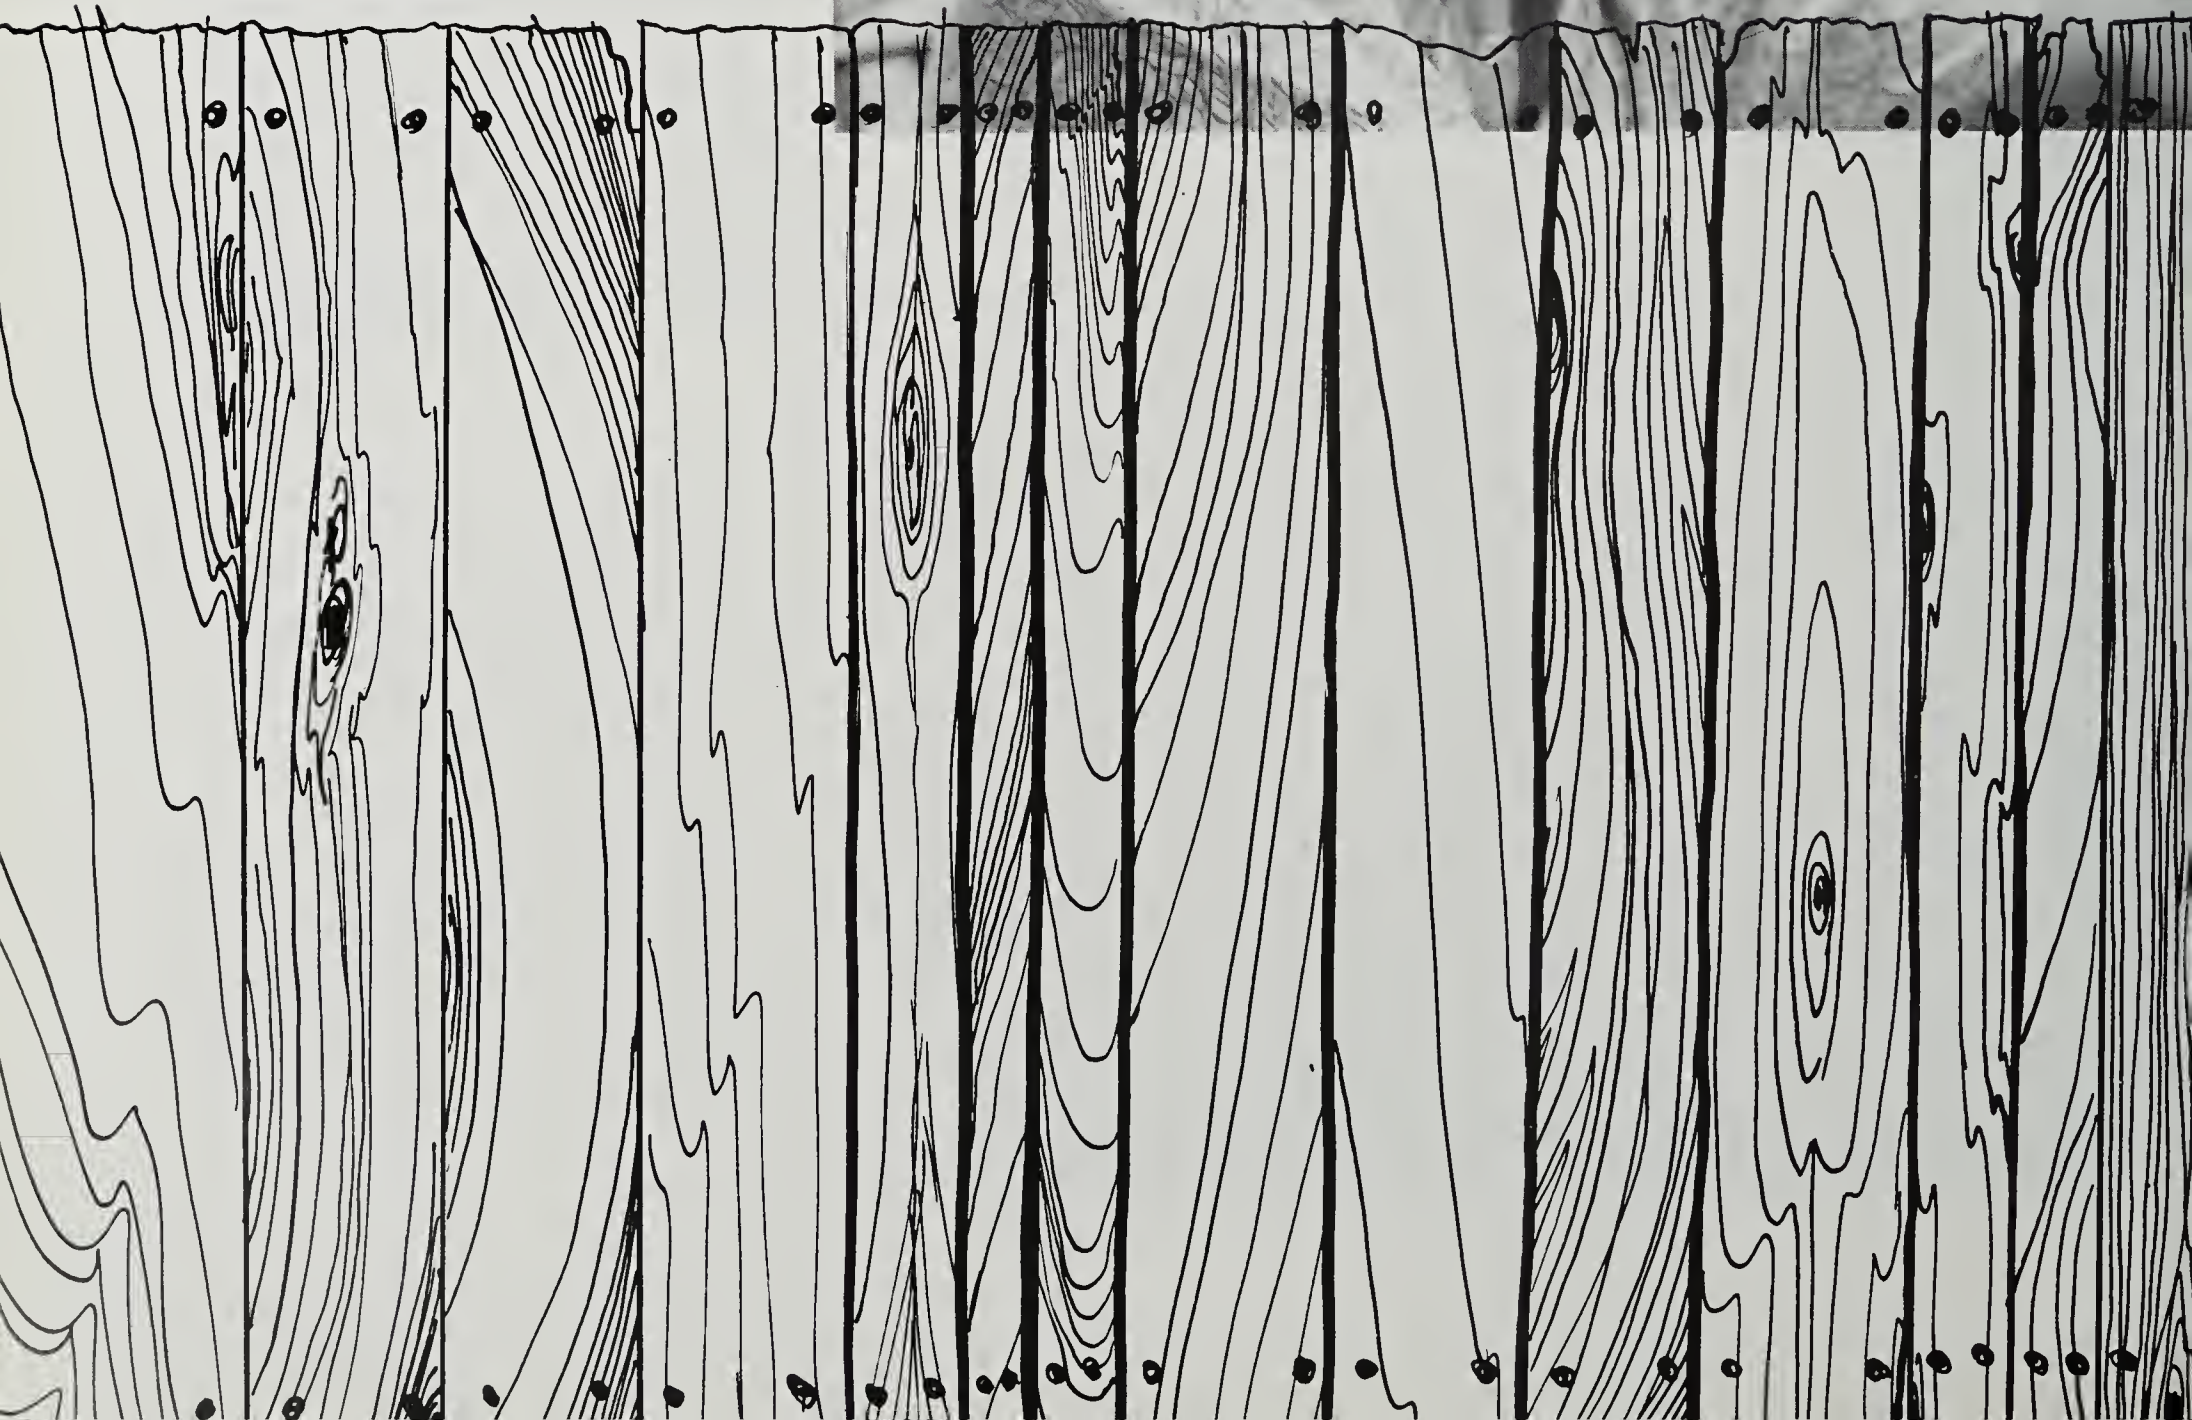

The Student Government buckled down and achieved a great deal this year. During the fall, senate members edited a proposed constitution and presented it to the student body for ratification. After the constitution was passed by the student body, the S.C.A. sponsored an Exchange Day and Christmas Dance. Plans for the spring were a Fifties Day, Soc Hop, and Bicentennial Fair.

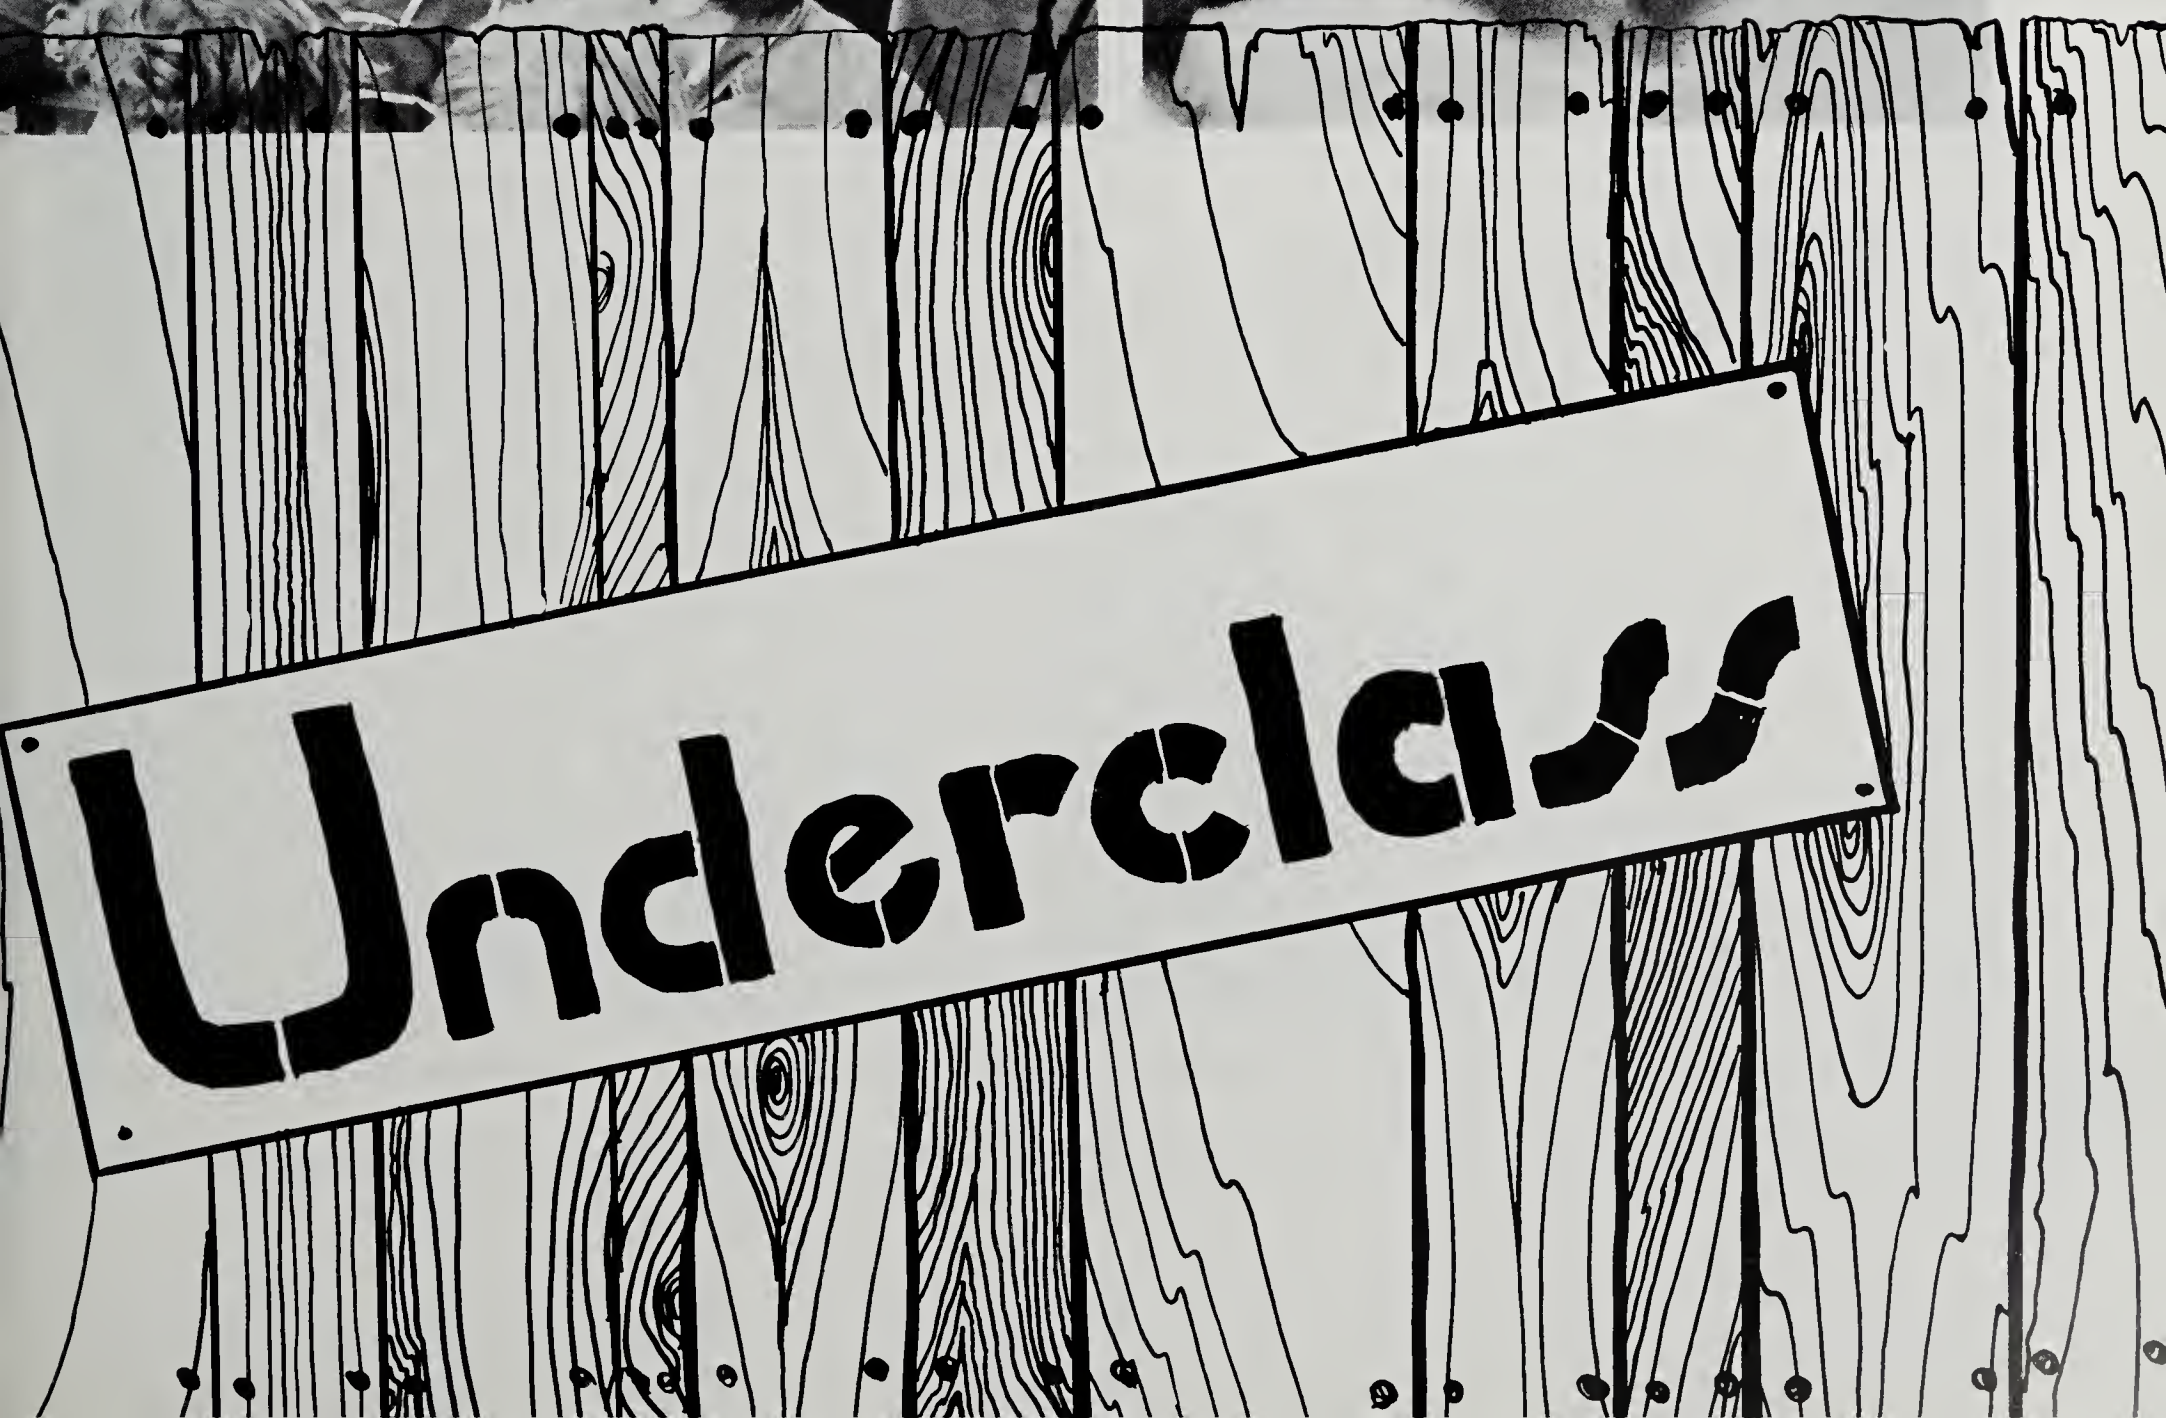

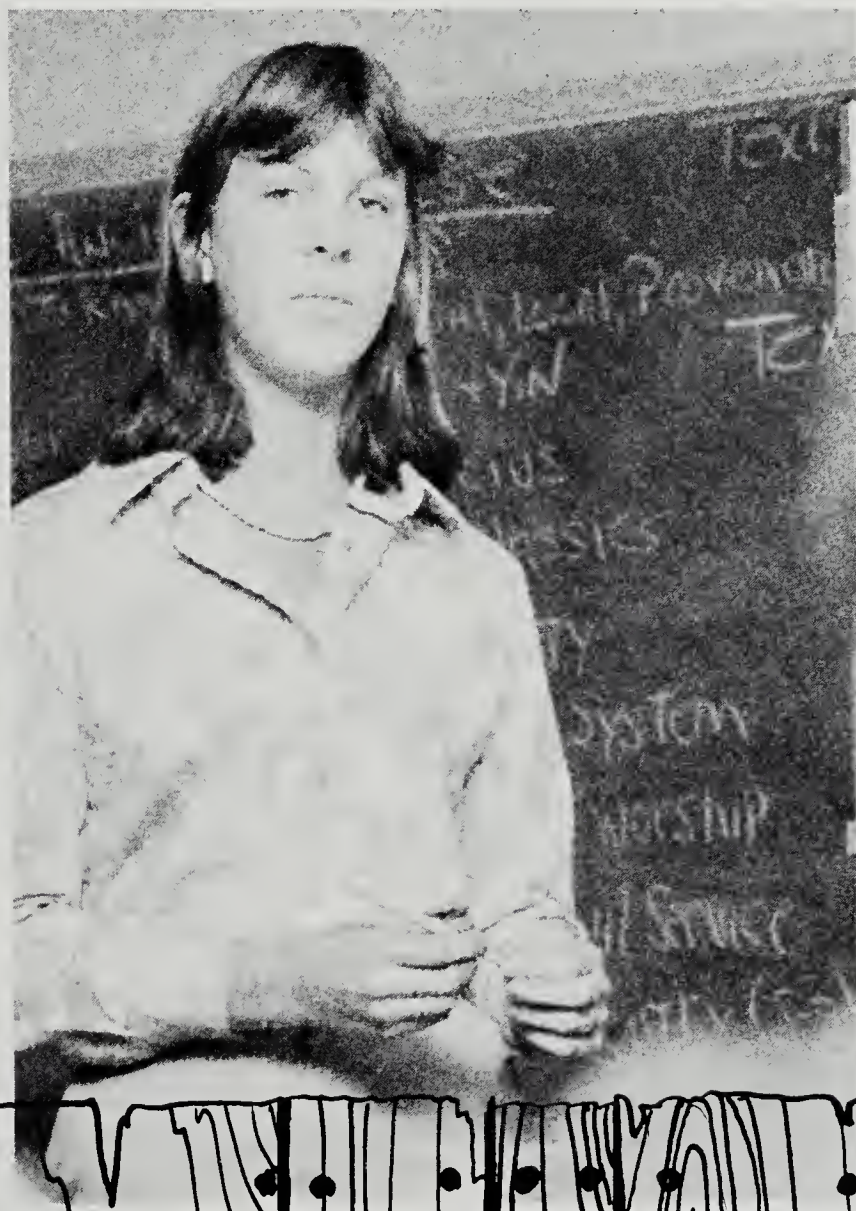

Student Senate: FIRST ROW: L. Beach, A. Rosenwasser, L. Vaughn, D. Ellington. SECOND ROW: S. Herder, V. Barand. THIRD ROW: K. Cloud, K. Farren, J. McCormick, J. Behlendorf. FOURTH ROW: S. Rooney, J. Tettelbach. FIFTH ROW: L. Shepherd, M. Smith, S. Elphick, D. Eisele. SIXTH ROW: J. Dillow, J. Robins, R. Racherbaumer, J. Reedy. S.C.A. Officers: V. Pres. S. Herder, Sec. A. Rosenwasser, Treas. J. McCormick, Pres. R. Ward. BELOW: Miss Small gives the Student Senate a briefing.

Classes, activities, and fellow students all helped the individual build a solid foundation on which to construct a future. Underclassmen participated in all aspects of school activities, each adding a part until all parts equaled a whole. Class spirit throughout the year's events created competition necessary for school involvement. As different classes sponsored different activities a school life was constructed making the year worthwhile.

Jr Class Officers

The Junior year is probably the most crucial academic year in a student's career. New courses (with lots of homework!), SAT's, grade point averages, and thoughts about the future (college or job?) envelop a junior daily. Contact with the "real" world increases with more and more people getting jobs. A larger number of students with driver's licenses means more extensive social lives. However, underneath all of these interests and concerns lies an inescapable bond common to everyone—they are all members of the Class of 77. As sponsor I hoped to develop in everyone a sense of pride in that fact. Imagination, innovation, and vigor characterized this year's class council, headed by four outstanding officers. Through their efforts, the junior class won the Homecoming Float Contest and the Spirit Jug twice, sponsored the second annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, instituted the Junior-Senior Powderpuff Football Game, and planned a breakfast Prom, the first such prom at Hayfield ever.

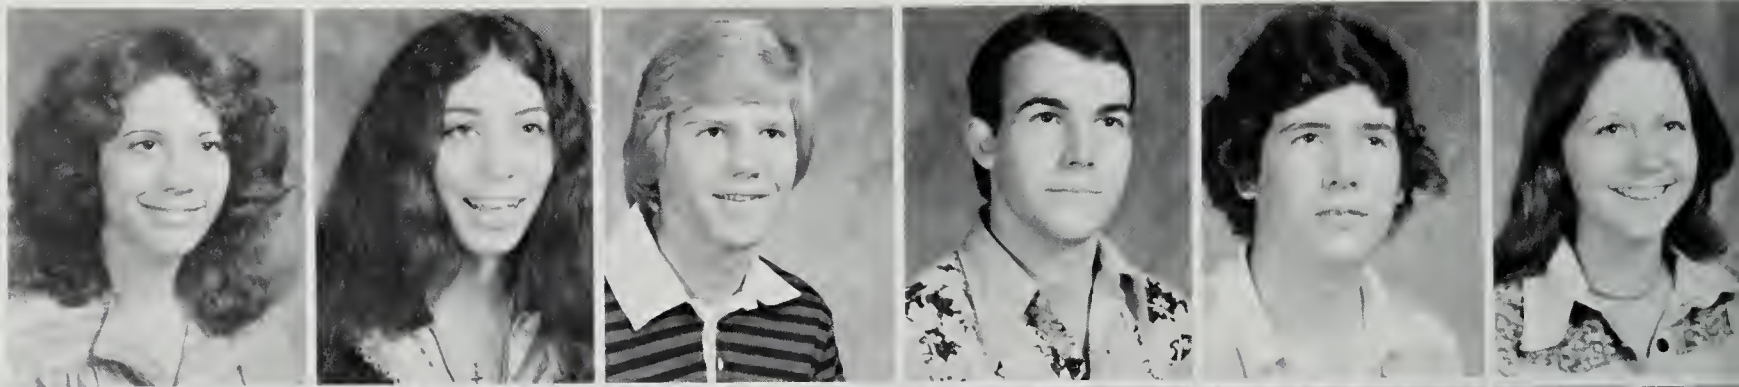

Through the efforts of everyone, especially the officers, the members of the class of 77 have shared a rewarding, successful school year. It is my hope that with all of their other interests and activities, the juniors felt a sense of pride in their accomplishments and themselves. Richard Clark, junior class sponsor.

This year's junior class tried to come up with interesting money making projects that would involve the junior class. One such project was the powderpuff football game between the senior and jun. class girls. This activity stimulated much enthusiasm in the junior and seniors alike. Members of the boys' varsity football team helped coach the girls on the various aspects of the game. Several junior and senior guys cheered for their side, and even dressed up for the occasion. The senior girls beat the juniors 8-7. Junior class vice president Chuck Voccio's mother donated a plaque on which this year's and future games' scores can be recorded.

Appearing for the second time at Hayfield, Sadie Hawkins proved to be a great success for the junior class treasury. Established last year by the class of '77, the dance may continue as junior class tradition. In an atmosphere of "Ozark Country," the Hayfield hillbillies, clad in cutoffs and overalls, danced and socialized. Although the band was considered a failure, other attractions occupied the students. One such attraction was the institution of matrimony, with ceremonies performed by Marryin' Sam. Turnout at the dance was good, and preparation by the junior class made it a success.

PSATs were administered on Saturday, October 25, 1975. Juniors found out how they ranked in comparison to other juniors across the country in the verbal and mathematical abilities measured by the test. The PSAT helped them decide if college was for them. The test was an indication of a student's chances of succeeding in college. If students met PSAT eligibility requirements, they were asked to compete for college undergraduate scholarships given by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. A student, by just taking the test, could have signed up for the Student Search Service of the College Board. The service provides information about colleges, telling of educational and financial aid opportunities.

The juniors didn't get their trailer until the night before homecoming. They finished the day the floats were judged. Rocky Salvatore designed the float, Spirit of St. Louis. Area merchants contributed materials for the project. These contributions helped build the float without cost to the class.

The sophomore class raised over $135 in September and October of this year. This raised the total treasury to over $175 including the money that was left over from last year. The sophomore class, in desperate need for money, came up with $80 from a car wash of their own and split $70 with the freshman class at another car wash. They also earned $25 from a bake sale after school.

The freshman class began the 75-76 school year with very little activity. Spirit Week came and went without much support; few bake sales or car washes were held during the first semester. The freshmen had a few goals planned for their first year in high school. Some of these included a talent show in the spring, a ping pong tournament and possibly a Senior Appreciation Day. They also planned the usual bake sales, car washes and other money making projects

Frosh feel little again

Freshman year in high school is like starting all over again in school. Some freshmen believe that they are put down because they are the youngest. Because of this belief they feel they are left out of many activities. Yet some freshmen prefer the high school side because of the advantages that it offers. These advantages range from course selections to sports.

Wild animals invaded this year's flick scene beginning with JAWS. Millions conquered the long lines, and the great financial success of JAWS led to others: bears, bees, frogs, and even more sharks. An import from from England gave America a taste of British humor with MONTY PYTHON AND THE HOLY GRAIL, a satire on the tales of the round table. Two oldies but goodies, Katherine Hepburn and John Wayne, joined together for an unfortunate appearance in ROOSTER COGBURN AND THE LADY. Many of the usual violent films like DOG DAY AFTERNOON and 3 DAYS OF THE CONDOR hit the movie theatres but in these two films the attraction wasn't the blood but the stars, Al Pacino and Robert Redford.

In the winter and summer the olympics dominated the national sports scene. Strikes and construction delays in Montreal and a lack of snow in Innsbrook offered a bleak early picture. International sports figures competed and sought the championships.

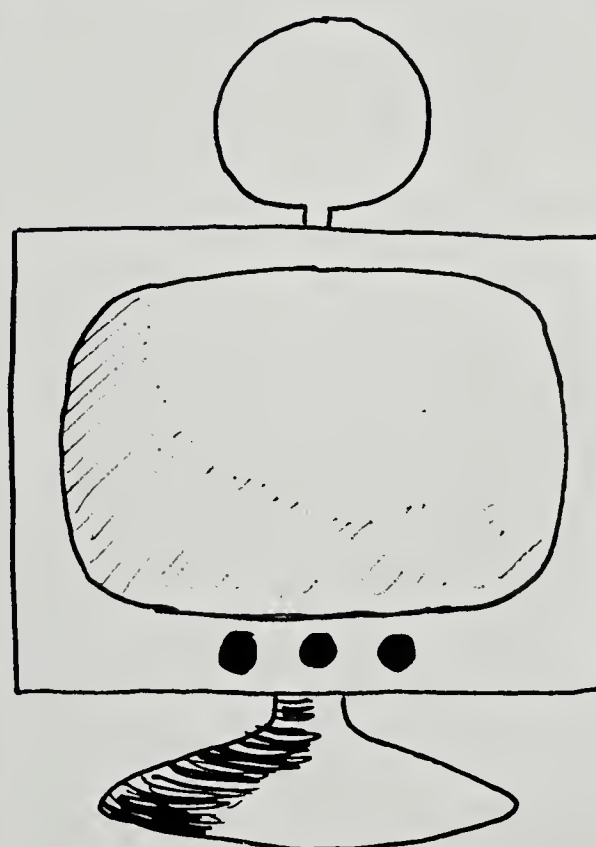

Fads and styles mirrored last year's and a few more were added. Platform shoes grew higher and gained flashier attachments. Men began wearing jewelry and puka shells were the thing for everyone. The easiest way to determine peoples' moods was to look at their hands to see what color their mood ring was. The skirt lengths stayed around the knees and were more commonly accompanied by baggy boots, with a matching belt of course. For the first time in sixteen years the Barbie doll was outsold at Christmas by the bionic man with the karate grip. Although bluejeans are still America's national fashion, fewer were seen.

Several #1 best sellers appeared on the bookshelves this year. JAWS, the novel used to create the movie, delighted millions with a tense and adventurous plot. Controversy over the true survival story of a group of planewrecked passengers in the Andes Mountains led the American reader to investigate the events in ALIVE. The fastest selling item on the presses was HELTER SKELTER, presenting all the facts and events of the Sharon Tate murders and the crimes connected with them, and Charles Manson who received a life sentence. The tremendous psychological power Manson has over his 'family' startled and amazed the mind of the readers.

The music world featured Elton John, Bruce Springstein, John Denver, the Captain and Tenille and others. Disco music entered the scene and with it the hustle and the disco strut. Famous theme songs came from SWAT and the Rockford Files and the new Broadway hit musical CHORUS LINE provided a list of songs for enjoyment by all. During the summer Chicago and the Beach Boys made a comeback with a joint tour across the nation. Simon and Garfunkel combined their talents again on a few appearances.

The television media featured a wide variety of shows, but little by little the police and detective shows dominated the time slots; ELLERY QUEEN, KOJAK, POLICE WOMAN, SWITCH, SWAT, and HAWAII FIVE-O represented only a fraction of these shows. One of America's most loved and hated men, Howard Cosell, hosted this year's new variety show SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE WITH HOWARD COSELL. His guests ranged from Muhammad Ali to the top recording artists of the year. On ALL IN THE FAMILY a new addition arrived, but it almost became the first baby to be born in a phone booth. So far we've seen the bionic man and woman combat the forces of evil. What next—a bionic baby, dog, maybe a bionic shark. After his recent success on the screen, Mel Brooks tried his luck on television with WHEN THINGS WERE ROTTEN, a zany and comical takeoff on Robin Hood and his merry men. And at last. Sonny & Cher—together again—at least on the tube.

Violence, economic problems, and international affairs plagued the news media. President Ford visited China and detente relations were tested in the SALT talks with the Soviet Union. American involvement in Angola shocked the nation and reminders of the way Vietnam began caused controversy. Twice President Ford became the target for assassins. Lynette Fromme, one of the assassins, received a life sentence and her involvement with Charles Manson had a great impact on the public. New York City faced bankruptcy and a firm Pres. Ford granted aid with rigid conditions and requirements.

WE THE STUDENTS of Hayfield
Secondary School, grades 9-12, in order to form an efficient

This year the student government constructed a constitution. Many problems along the way delayed the ratification, but by December it finally became the official Hayfield constitution. Nearly 200 years ago when America ratified the U.S. Constitution, problems also caused delays.

In 1974-75 the student government drew up a constitution to be ratified by the student body the following year. In the early fall of 1975 the newly elected student senate reviewed the constitution and prepared it for the student body. Members of the student senate explained and read the constitution to all social studies classes to expose a majority of the students to the document. During these introductory presentations several students and teachers noted a few discrepancies between some articles of the constitution and the Student's Rights and Responsibilities as set down by the county.

In Article IV, the executive branch, the constitution required that the officers be of a specific age and have above a minimum grade point average. The S.R.&R's handbook clearly stated that student government offices cannot have a grade level or academic standing restrictions. This was the only major conflict in the constitution and after failing to be ratified, it was sent back to the senate.

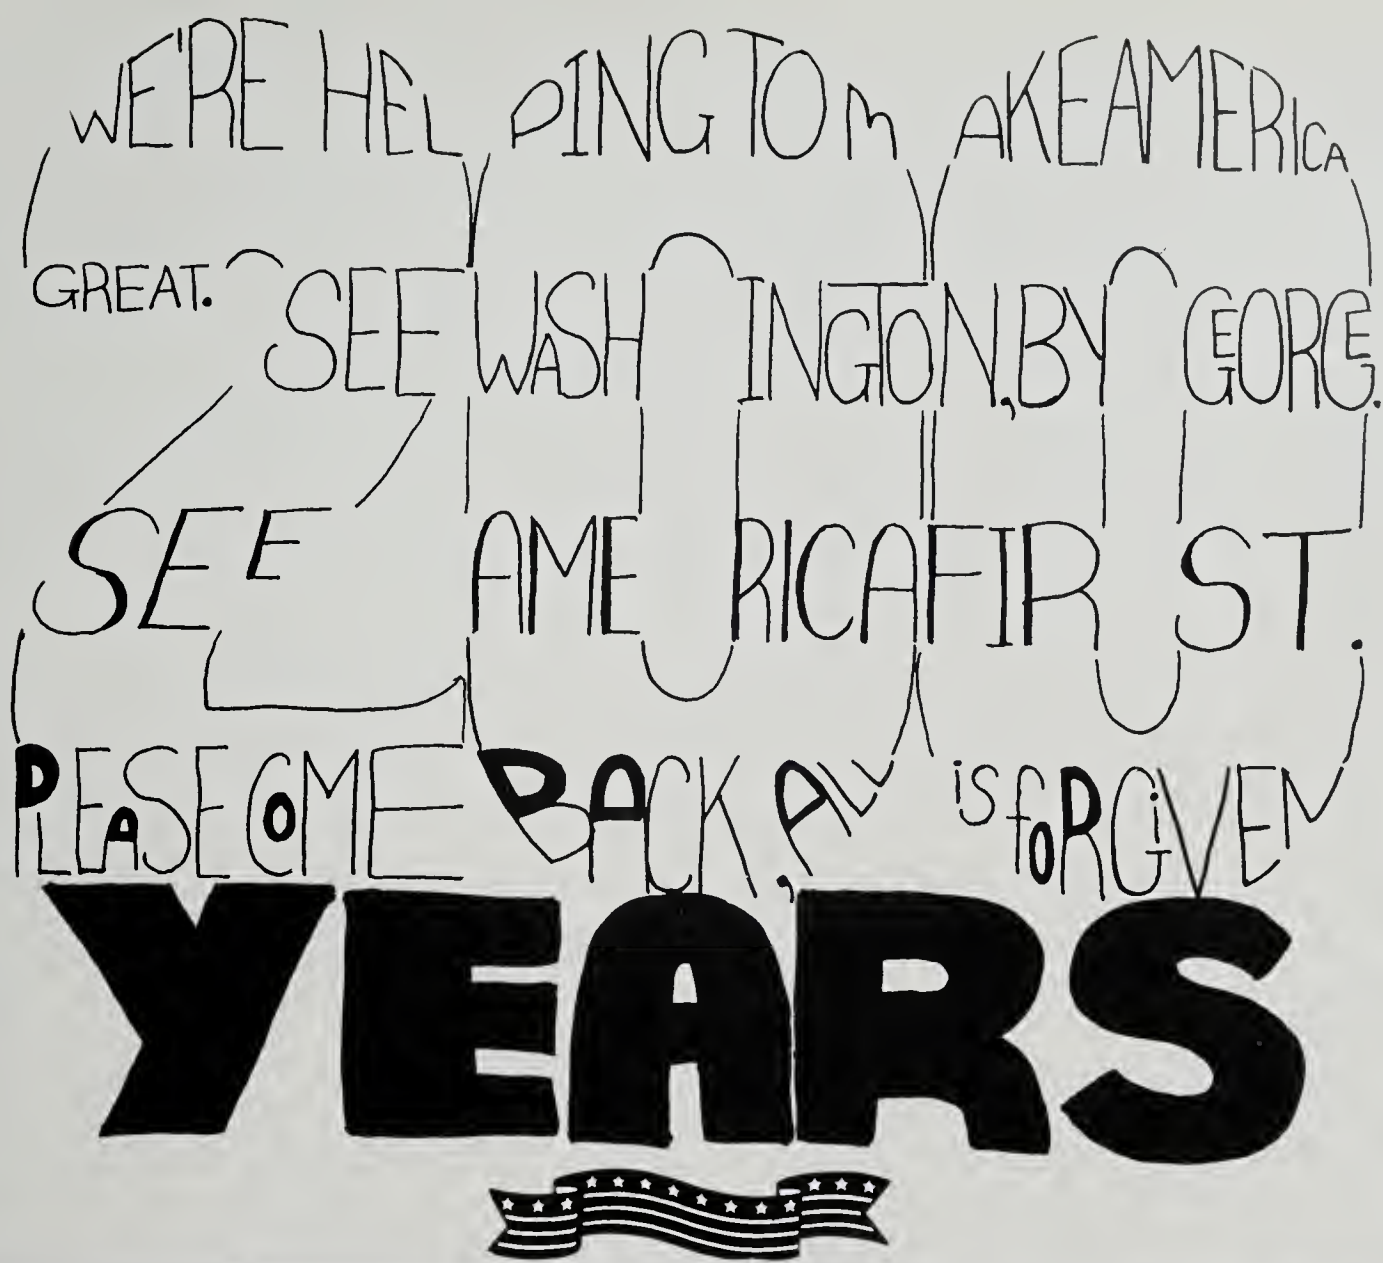

Changes were made and once again classroom presentations took place. A short time later several hearings allowed the student body to express their opinions. This time it passed and Hayfield had a new constitution.

In early years of America's history the colonies were experimenting and growing under a new government. A constitution was drawn up to replace the Articles of the Confederation and many conflicts arose. The new constitution required ratification by nine of the thirteen states. During this period Federalists supported the constitution and with the help of James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, and other colonial patriots, a powerful group formed. Opposing the constitution were the Anti-Federalists with many supporters, such as Patrick Henry, John Hancock, and Samuel Adams.

By emphasizing the weakness of the Articles of the Confederation the federalists argued the importance of a stronger central government to strengthen the country. The Anti-Federalists objected to nearly every article of the Constitution; among the objections were: its acceptance or rejection without any chance of amendment, the denial of states' rights to print money, and a lack of a Bill of Rights.

A bitter struggle in many of the states delayed the ratification but eventually the Federalists won Thomas Jefferson's support, which had tremendous impact on the final outcome. On June 25, 1788, Virginia became the tenth state to ratify the constitution by 89-79 votes.

Passing official documents through a legislative organization by due process of law takes time and effort, but in order to protect the rights of all, the process is necessary. Our country was established through a belief in this process, and, through the years it has continued to be vital to our way of life. Hayfield, in order to create an efficient student government, exercised this same process and discovered the difficulties it often creates.

Opinions on the bicentennial vary, but the average person would probably confess total boredom on the subject. Long before 1976 even came around, the American public was fed up with the overly publicized celebration. The media, commercial industry, and government exploited America's patriotism to the point of nausea.

Large companies sponsored patriotic documentaries and dramatic television shows. All were interesting and educational but after a point, the novelty wore off. The frequency of the specials caused lack of interest and often the detective shows won in popularity. For example, the bicentennial minutes started in 1974 and by 1976 the celebrities narrating them became less and less familiar.

The programs' topics, direction, and presentations were excellent. Some of the programs portrayed the idealistic and glamorized view of events from the past, but the vast majority of the shows attempted to reveal the factual events. In many of the shows theatrical make-up provided an amazing resemblance to many of our national heroes.

Manufacturers produced bicentennial souvenirs in endless amounts. Although cheap articles flooded the market, many invaluable mementos of the bicentennial were available. Fine coins, plaques and medals in gold, silver, and pewter were among many collector's items. It is not unrealistic to think that in time many of these better items will have a great nostalgic and monetary value. Unfortunately many of these were unavailable or unaffordable by the general public.

Advertising agencies found endless ways to use bicentennial gimmicks as a way of conning the public. Free items with purchases, patriotic slogans, and pictures, were among the many exploitations of the bicentennial. Television commercials used red, white, and blue, as well as patriotic music, and often promoted their product by appealing to the patriotism of the average American. Cereal boxes, sugar packets, and other items featured American heroes, symbols, and historical events. Endlessly the public was reminded of the bicentennial and after awhile the reminders became overbearing.

The news and journalism media often featured bicentennial articles and even ran special editions. The features were interesting and educational, but with present problems, and in the shadow of Watergate, they often seemed like pretty fairy tales with little value in these trying times. At a time when America's faith in government and its political system was at an all time low, the endless promotion of the bicentennial became so saturated that it only served to turn the public off. One newspaper article might have featured a great event in American history and then another might have revealed the CIA's intrusion of privacy and involvement in internal affairs. In one instance the public was reminded of the past and then immediately turned around to learn about unconventional government affairs. It was confusing and often caused apathy.

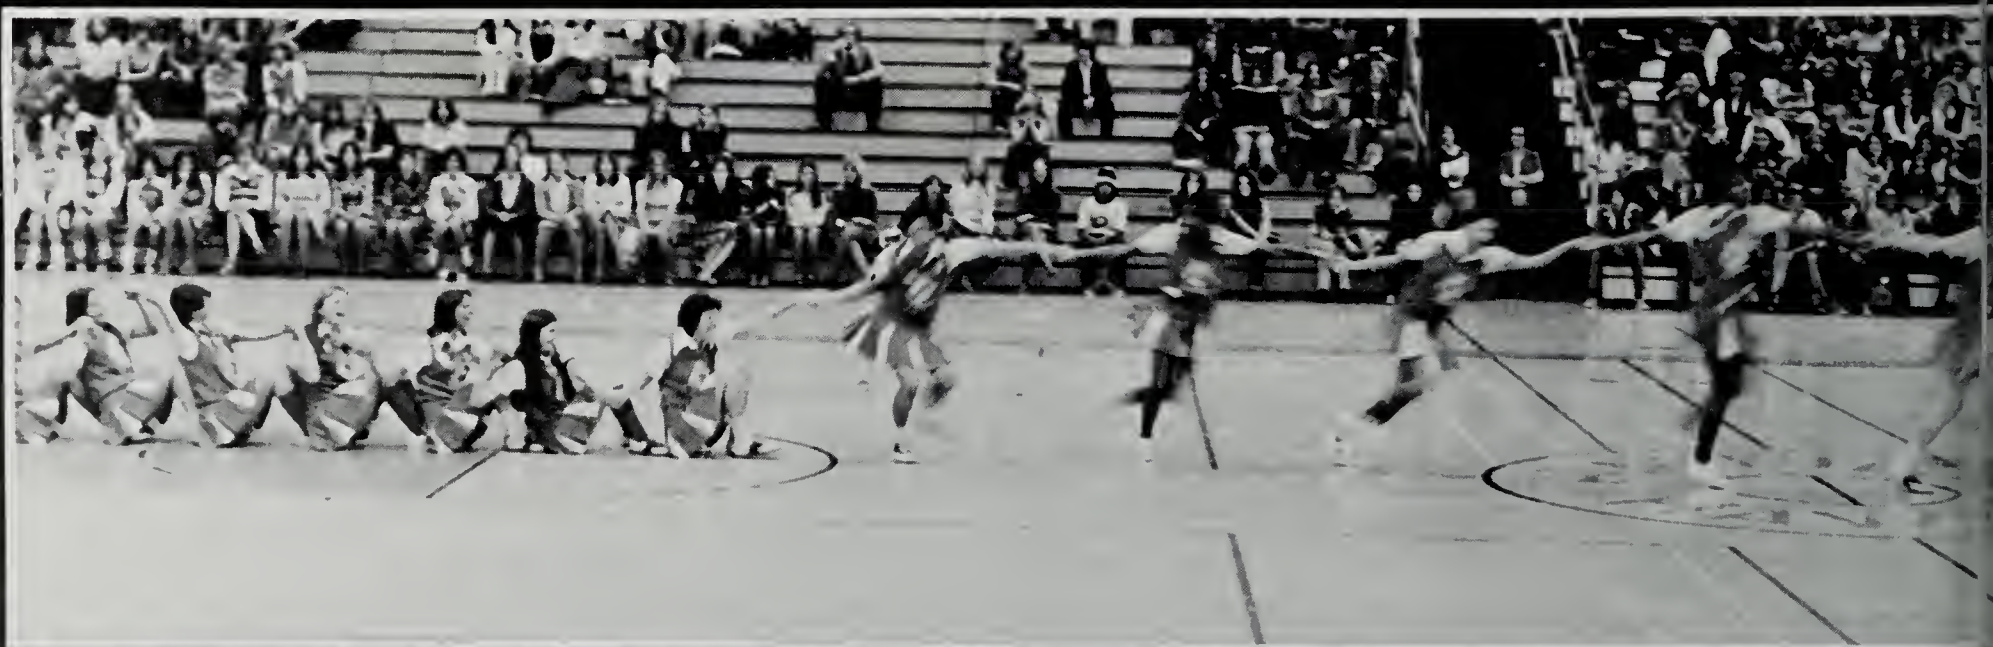

For America the bicentennial celebration should be a time to reflect the past and to plan for the future. The exploiting of a national holiday or year is typically American. We often remember Washington and Lincoln merely for the sales and the holiday instead of commemorating the ideals they stand for. It is high time for America to stop abusing its own way of life and to treat it with pride and respect. The bicentennial stands for two hundred years of America, but mainly for an ideal which always provided for change and reform in a conservative society.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

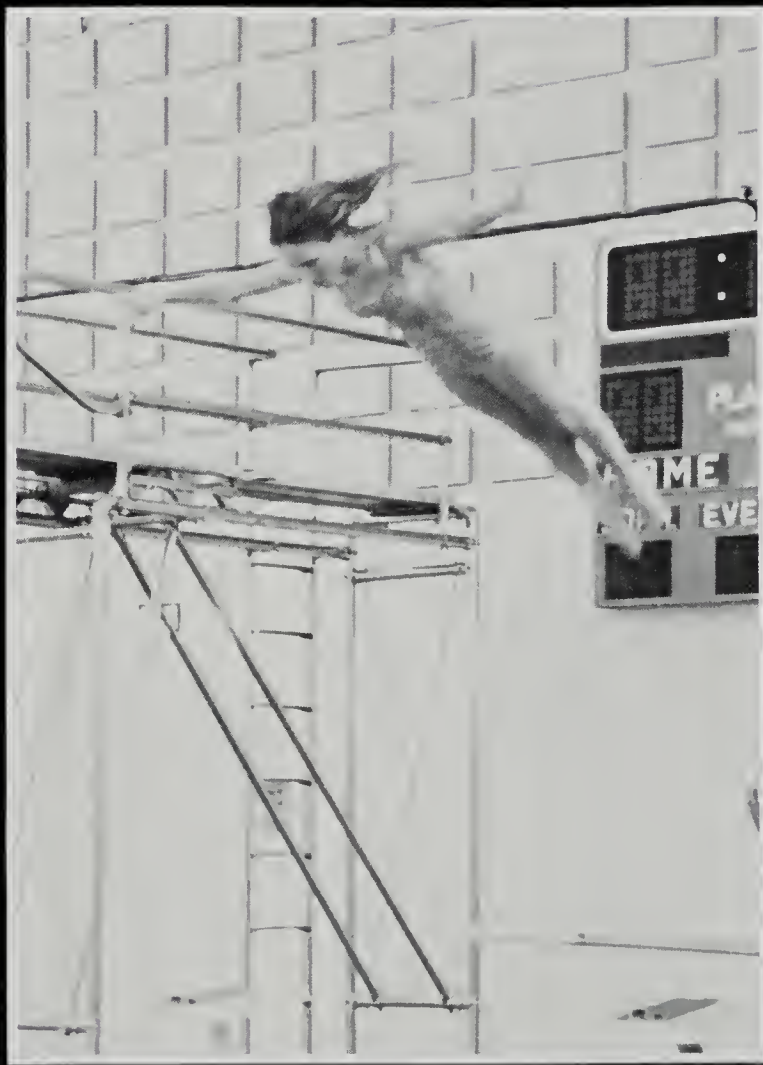

Creating a book that captured the greatest events of 1976 at Hayfield never was easy. An endless amount of time and energy from a small group of Hayfield students helped to assemble a book acceptable by the student body. The yearbook is produced, bought, and sold like any product put before the consumer, but with a slight difference. Along with making a book the students like and expect, we added creativity and originality. At all times the book received the best we could offer and many long hours of hard work! The students involved received no money, no academic credit, and at times—more hassle than appreciation. We received the satisfaction of creating, writing, and publishing our own book. Every word, picture, and cartoon came from our own ideas and work.

From my years on the yearbook staff one main idea remains important: involvement. Every student at Hayfield is given the opportunity to become involved and excel in every area, but so few take advantage of the opportunities. A small minority of the student body actively participate in Hayfield's activities. A major complaint against The Harvester staff over the years remains the recurrence of certain individuals' pictures in the book. If we are guilty of this I apologize, but it seems that these individuals are among the minority who have become involved in Hayfield. The yearbook reports and captures the activities with the camera and these people are a part of them. This minority of students keep Hayfield alive. I personally urge every student to make this minority a majority . . . involvement makes a difference!

difference

Throughout the year the intermediate students built and constructed a better school. Clubs and other extracurricular organizations planned and produced special activities for their fellow students. Intramural teams practiced and competed for fun and achievement. Students studied and prepared themselves for high school and other goals. Each facet of school life went through the processes of planning, construction and finally, it happened—whether it was a game, a play, a sales campaign, or producing a newspaper or year-book. It was work and often frustrating, but it was necessary to reach the intended goals and the fun along the way kept us going.

Drama

Developing talent is one thing that Drama is about. This year's 4th Annual drama productions, the magazine campaign show, and the spaghetti dinner have shown the Hayfield's Intermediates are hard working, fun loving, and talented.

Last years "Mid Summer Night's Dream" and this year's "Hello Dolly" have challenged our students to perform as singers and dancers as well as actors. This year's annual courtyard show, the fourth, follows the tradition of excellence in performing. Intermediate drama's motto is "We will be better than good."

Learning about publications escaped our minds as we started the "real" work on this year's yearbook. Keeping up with deadlines kept us constantly at work. Anyone entering room 261 after school, entered at their own risk!

"I know she's an eighth grader!"
 "Don't move, where's page 300?"
 "What's a layout sheet?"
 "Ms. Rosenberg it's six o'clock!"
 "Someone go get a typewriter!"
 "But I can't type!"

Somehow we did it, minus a few things. But we finished. We couldn't have done it without the extra hard work of Teddy Beuke, Mary Wagner, Dee Tucker, Sam Breary, Jeff Rogers, and Karen Courtney.

Special thanks to Mr. Okazaki for his sketches, Ms. Saunders and Ms. Brown for their help as photographers.

"Hey Ms. Roseburg, you're asleep Again!"

Ecology

Ecology Club: FIRST ROW: Debbie Holman, Brenda Mc-Clanahan, Kurt Henne, Gretchen Tupy. SECOND ROW: Tammy Proper, Mark Yaeger, Peter Boska, Teresa Davis, Robin Beall, Shelby, Serrin, Dana Phillips, Jane Tyson, Katrina Mc Kinney, Mrs. Mc Kinstry, Laura Gray, Linda Schaefer, Ruth Kovel, Tammy Caryer, Philip Jones.

March is Earth Month, and that kept the Ecology Club very busy. Our objective in March was to get the intermediate students involved in saving our natural resources and wildlife. The Ecology Club urged everyone to get involved in the months activities.

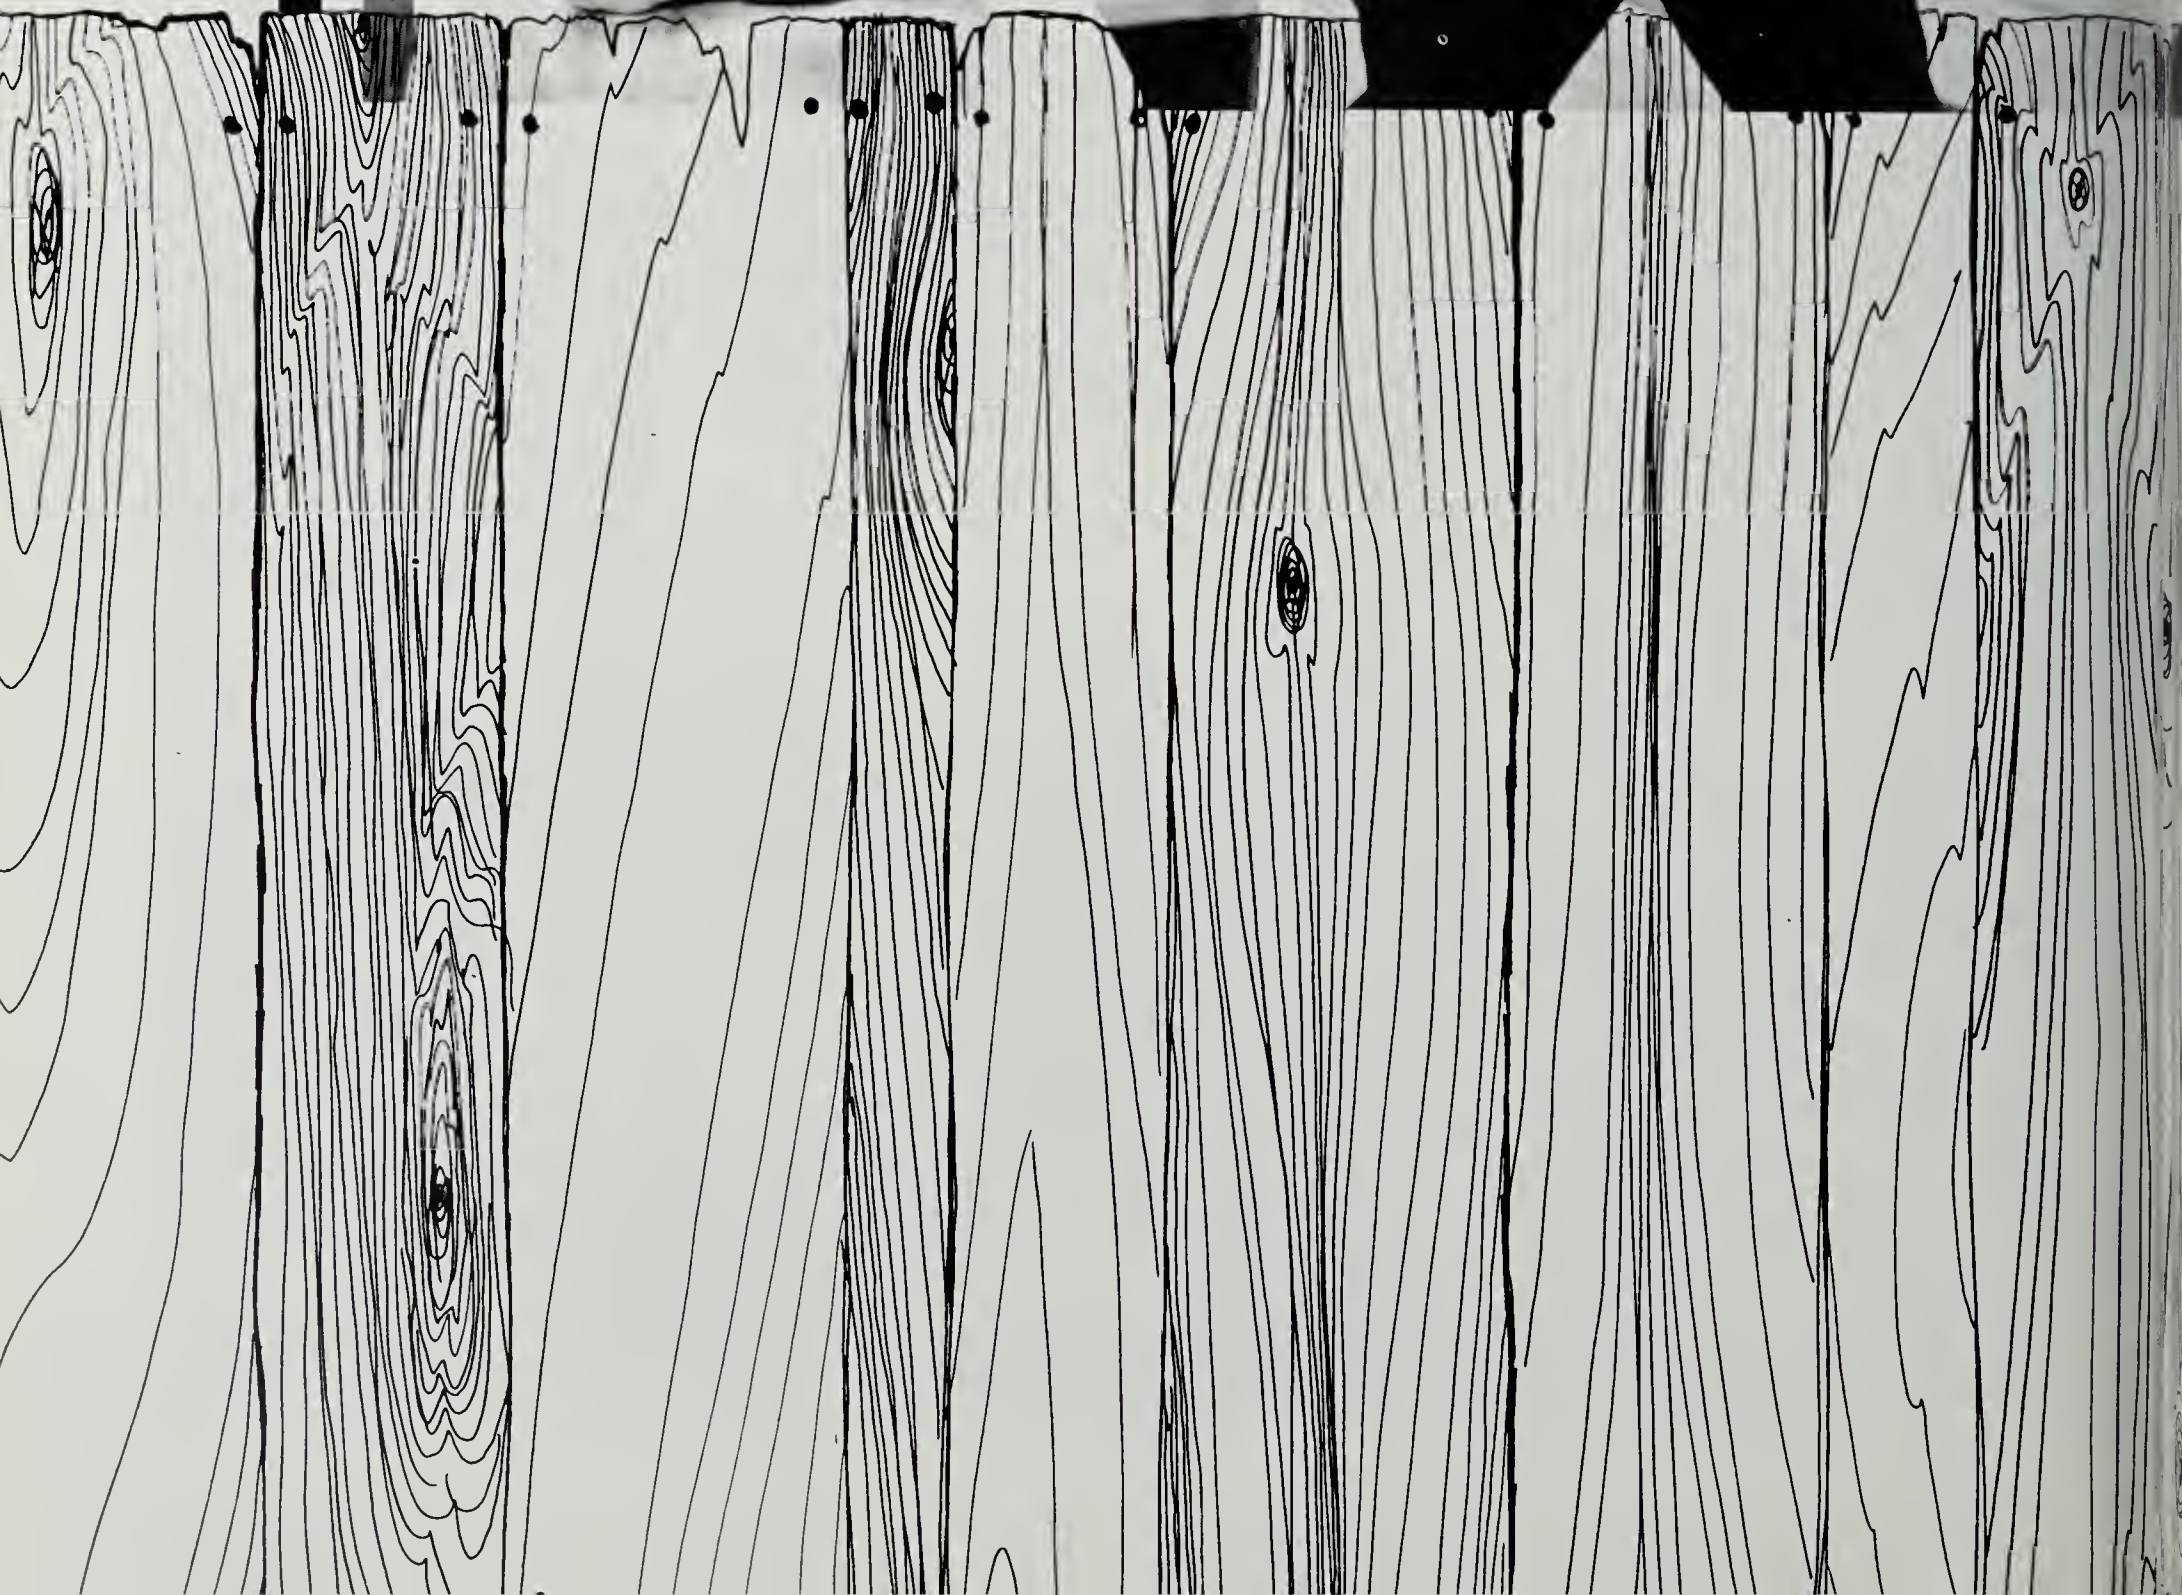

Crafts

The prime function of the faculty in the school was to teach and build knowledgeable and open minded students. Qualified teachers and administrators organized and coordinated the academic program at Hayfield. Each course required overall planning and preparation prior to the beginning of the academic year. During the year the faculty strove to provide the students with every benefit available in the Fairfax County School System.

Some students might have found it hard to picture teachers doing anything other than sitting behind a desk grading papers. Teachers at Hayfield, however, had more to do with their time.

Mr. Tillery, for instance, scuba dives in his free time. He has been scuba diving for about 3 years.

Dr. Pfennig, meanwhile is a gourmet cook. He learned this art while in college and can now boast of many successful meals.

It might not be known, but Mr. Breault has built many scale models for the Smithsonian Institute, N.A.S.A., and the National Geographic Society.

Another one of our active members of the faculty is Mrs. Harper. She is a dedicated motorcyclist and an energy conservationist. Mrs. Harper has been riding her motorcycle for about three years, and she enjoys it greatly.

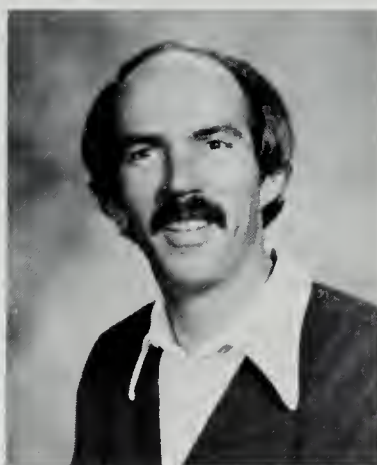

Traffic... Teachers on Patrol

From Trays to

There were many duties that teachers and staff had to perform during the day. These jobs were divided among the sub-schools and then distributed among the teachers. Certain areas had to be patrolled before and after school and during lunch. One of the obligations that had to be performed was cafeteria duty. This involved picking up trays and trash that had been left by other students. Patrolling the parking lot and bus lanes were but two other duties assigned.

A.P. English.: A Debut

To better prepare seniors for college English and writing courses, Hayfield offered an Advanced Placement English class for the first time. The students had the opportunity to take the A.P. English Examination given by the College Entrance Examination Board. A high score on the exam exempted the students from freshman English courses, depending on the college's Advanced Placement policy.

Various areas of study in the course included writing, drama, poetry, and other branches of literature. Students learned to interpret and analyze literature with emphasis on theme, style, and symbolism. The students listened to many lectures, took many notes, wrote many essays, and eventually were prepared for the A.P. test.

Personal experience lends reality to government class

Teaching a government class is not always easy, but personal experience lent a hand to Mr. Dillard.

Mr. Dillard served two terms as a Delegate to the Virginia Assembly and he has recently been elected to his third. This experience was invaluable to him, for he feels that political science is vital to a student's idea of government. In his class he stressed the individual importance of each student to the government. This method of teaching was interesting to the students and helped broaden their concept of government.

Teachers Go To Court Again!

Teachers' tennis tournaments drew a big crowd this year. More than thirty agile teachers came out to whack the ball across the court, but only seven participated in the glorious finals.

The tournament included "Men's Singles," "Women's Singles," and "Mixed Doubles."

The winners and those who were defeated are as follows:

Men's Singles

Richard Clark was defeated by Roger Yohe.

Women's Singles

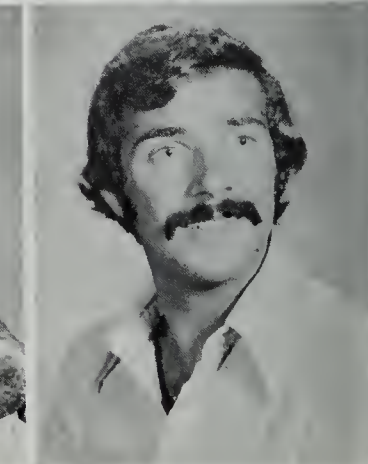

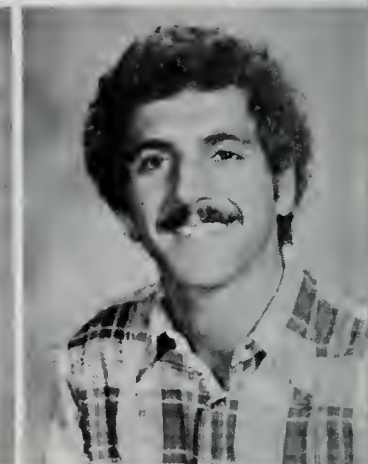

Brenda Sargent was defeated by Beth James.

Mixed Doubles

Roger Yohe & Doris Torrice were defeated by Paul Kozlow & Pat McCandlish.

There were many staff members who worked behind the scenes to help Hayfield run smoothly.

Assistant Director of Student Activities was Barbara Small. The job she had consisted of coordinating extra curricular activities such as: the exchange days, the 50's days, and all pep rallies. She also sponsored the S.C.A. and Host and Hostess.

The Director of Student Activities was James Walters. The main focus of his job was on athletics and the building's use for various athletic events.

Director of Pupil Services, Carolyn Jones, organized and supervised student health services, helped in the guidance of career programs, conducted tests, and kept student records. She also coordinated data processing for the school.

The Administrative Assistant was James Kinzer. His job included maintaining the building's security, and keeping truancy and vandalism at a low rate.

Mr. Peter Visnich, under the same title as Mr. Kinzer, was in charge of finances. He purchased school supplies, arranged transportation, made school plans, and was in charge of cafeteria workers and custodians.

English as a Second Language Creates

Cultural Understanding

Many different cultures were joined together this year in Hayfield. A course called English as a Second Language (E.S.L.) was offered to students who were from non English speaking countries. This program was designed to help students speak, read, and write English. Helping them cope with regular classes, E.S.L. also was a bridge between different cultures. It provided the students with cultural understanding in and out of school. Although students kept their native customs, they learned to blend them with those of the United States.

Many people donated time and energy to help Hayfield through its long days. Some students helped in the offices; others assisted the nurse, and a few helped operate the switchboard.

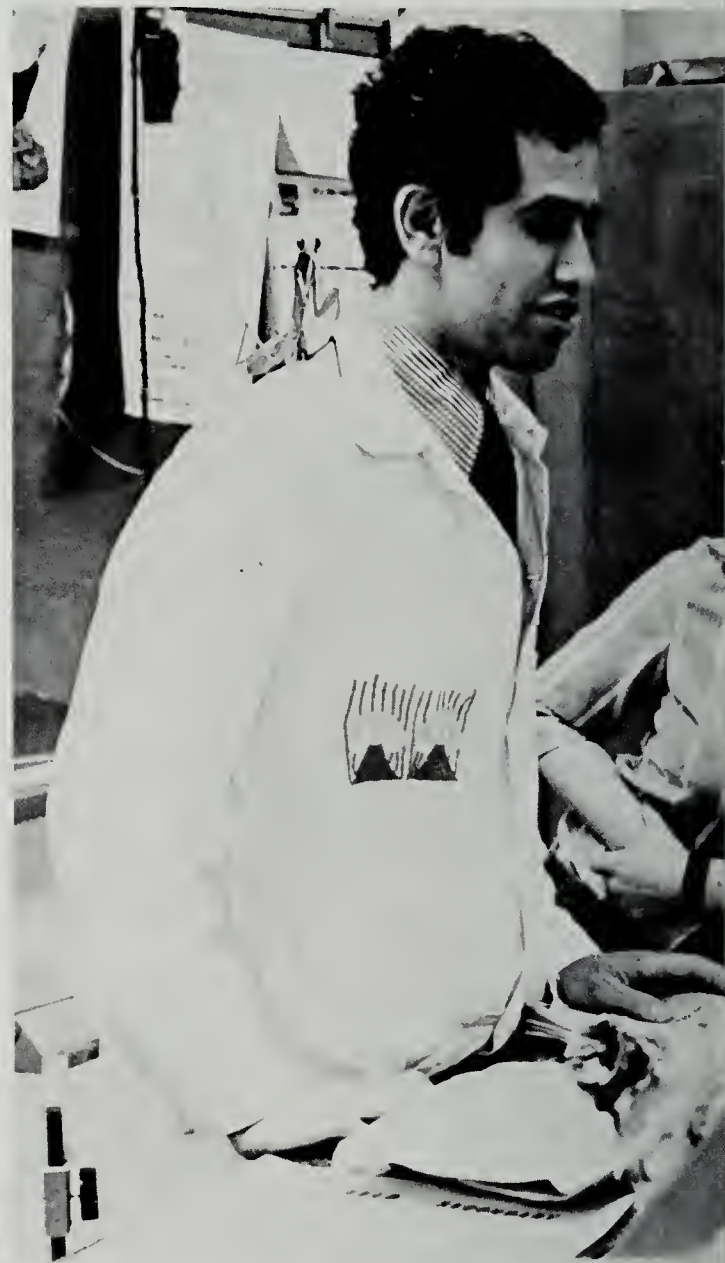

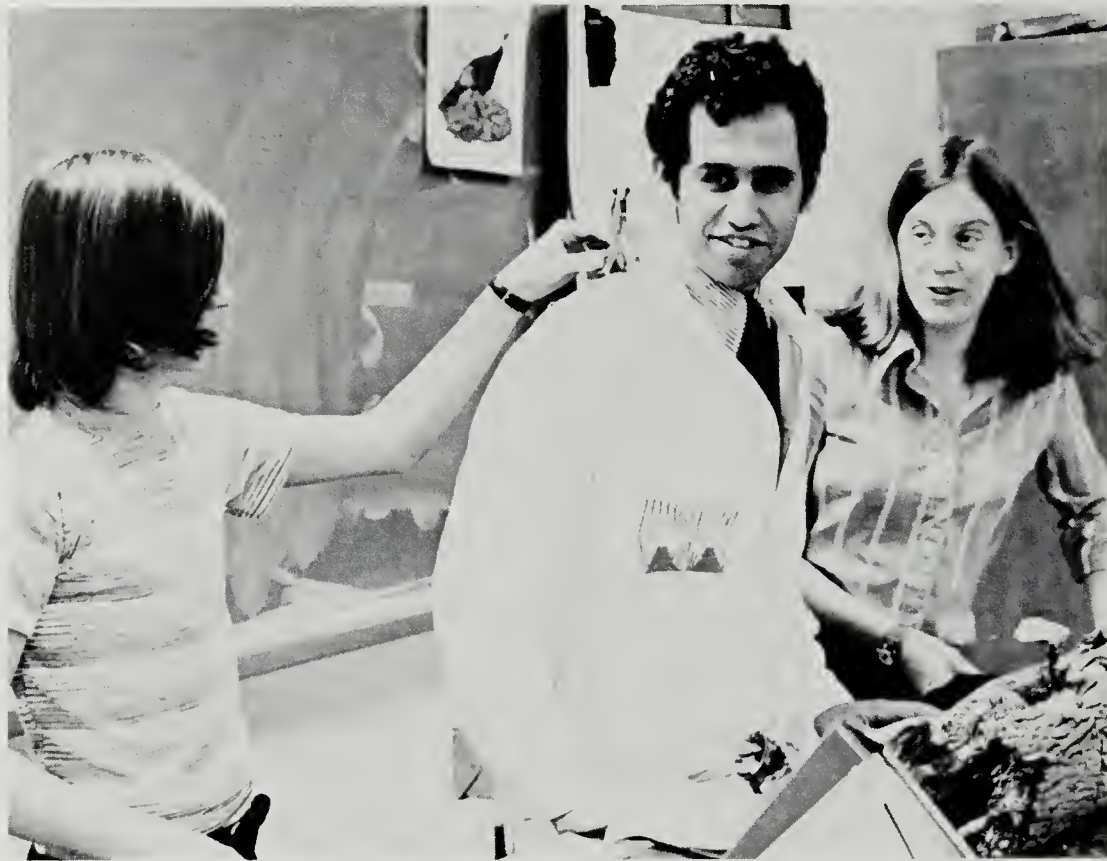

Our nutritional needs were fulfilled by the school lunches, served by the cafeteria ladies. Although many people complained about the food, there were few who could criticize the service. The cafeteria ladies ran the lunchroom smoothly and efficiently.

Conservative Studies

This year a new science class was taught at Hayfield. It was an ecology class headed by Mr. Thomas. Many people showed an interest in learning about ecology. The students learned about plant and animal identification and inter-relationships, county and state environmental laws and practices, and backyard habitat improvements. There were slide programs of local plants and animals, and outside community studies. The classes went outside and found wild food (nuts, berries, roots), and had a small inexpensive dinner. Projects that the students made ranged from plant terrariums, to bulletin boards, to actual taxidermy work.

G.M.R. lends a hand

Over the years the people in General Maintenance and Repair have done many things for the school and the teachers. They have fixed furniture, made sets for the school plays, and have done repair work on the electronic equipment for the drama department. Most of their work has gone unnoticed. For instance, they made the numbers above all the doors, and fastened the teachers' boxes in the offices to the walls. They began building a greenhouse for the science department, and started planning an awning for the smoking court.

SPECIAL THANKS TO: Mr. Lelanski, Delma Studios, Kathy Gibbs and Vicki Crowson, Matt Ashford, Cindy Hecox.

At times the year passed quickly, and at other times it dragged on endlessly. Each segment joined the next until all the parts merged into a whole: a complete year—with its ups and downs, its good memories and the bad memories. With the tools acquired in school: knowledge, friendship and leadership added to ingenuity, a year was constructed for each student.

Different chapters in American history contributed to the building of a strong nation. Not a perfect nation but a place where through triumphs and mistakes a country of strong ideals and individuals often shaped the future of the world; a country where pride and progress led to a celebration of 200 years. Not a small celebration but a large one planned and constructed over the past few years. All phases in the American media, business world, and government planned various means of commemorating a lifestyle which so often is taken for granted.

Bicentennial: Commemorating a lifestyle

Construction, building, foundations: just words—but words that symbolized a necessary part of almost everything: a play, a game, a year, and even a lifetime. The comparison amazingly applied to so many of the schools' activities. The yearbook chose this as the theme for just that reason . . . it best represented 1976 at Hayfield.

Building a capable generation

With each new bit of knowledge, supports were mounted on the foundation to secure a strong structure which would provide shelter for the trials faced in the future. The whole purpose of the school as an American institution was to build a strong and capable generation which eventually must tackle the world's problems; a generation who through its fun, games, schooling and experiences every once in awhile learned something.
